PREFACE.

This book, begun many years ago, has been of gradual growth. It was the writer's first intention to prepare only a genealogical record of his father's immediate family; afterwards he undertook to enlarge its scope so as to include the descendants of his grandfather; and then again at his father's request he began to trace backward the line of ancestry as far as possible, in order to connect the European with the American family.

In 1877 we visited Ireland, Scotland, England, Holland, etc., and while there obtained what information we could relative to the work, and began arranging the materials.

The preparation of this book has been a work of great difficulty, which those only can appreciate who have themselves attempted to perform a similar task. Our early American ancestors, while engaged in subduing the forests and undergoing the hardships and dangers of frontier life, paid little attention to the recording of their family history; at least, but little has been preserved to posterity, or is now accessible. A great difficulty has also arisen in collecting information from the very many distant and scattered families in all parts of the land, by means of correspondence. While hundreds of letters of inquiry have been sent out, many remained unanswered; a large number of those received were very ineager; and some of them almost illegible.

In the search for information concerning our own branch of the family, we came into possession of much of the genealogy of other branches, which we thought ought to be preserved, and this has led still further to the enlargement of the work.

For the seeming partiality in the treating of some families and persons much more fully than others of equal, or more worthy of like attention we offer this apology: Our own personal knowledge, or the information furnished by others, has enabled us to enlarge in some cases, and the lack of these has compelled us to be too brief in others. An earnest effort has been made to secure accuracy and to render the work as complete as possible; but owing to the deficiency of historical data, the desired ideal completeness was not attainable by such time and attention as we could give.

To make the work more easy for reference, it is divided into books and chapters, each book presenting the descendants of a large branch of the family, with a chapter devoted to each of the children of that particular family. Thus BOOK ONE shows the descendants of ROBERT STEEN, who was born in Ireland about 1730; and Chapter V. gives the particular descendants of his fifth child, ALEXANDER STEEN, who was born in Lancaster Co., Pa., Feb. 14, 1773. The succeeding generations are shown by Roman and Arabic numerals, which indicate the precise relationship of each individual to the person whose name appears at the head of the chapter; thus V. 3. 1. 1. 6. shows that Marine Dewey Bogart, who was born Jan. 30, 1898, was the sixth child of the first child of the first child of the third child of ALEXANDER STEEN, and hence his great-great-grandson.

When a name is first recorded it is written in full, if the full name is known to the writer, and whenever a contracted form afterwards appears it indicates the name by which the individual is known among his most intimate friends. Thus Robert Wilson Steen when written R. Wilson Steen indicates that he was familiarly called Wilson Steen; and John Work Steen, afterwards written John W. Steen, intimates that among his friends he was called John Steen.

This book is not intended for general circulation, but only for those of our own name and relationship. These will find in it a genealogical record of the past, and one that can at any time be easily extended so as to include future generations. It is hoped this record will prove both interesting and profitable to the families and individuals chiefly concerned; for none of us should willingly remain ignorant of our forefathers and kindred, whose lives and character affect us more than those of any other people.

The writer wishes to express his gratitude to all who have rendered him assistance to any degree, by furnishing desired information. But thanks are especially due to the late Rev. George Steen, of Limavady, Ireland; Mrs. Annie C. Steen, of Belfast, Ireland; Mrs. Sarah Steen Irwin, of Toronto, Canada; Mr. Nathaniel Steen, of Streetsboro, Ontario; the late Carroll J. Steen, Esq., of Cato, Miss.; Mr. James P. Gossett, of Williams-ton, S. C.; the Rev. John F. Steen, of New York, N. Y.; Mr. James Steen Martin, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Anna C. Steen, of NewCastle, Pa.; Mrs. Eliza Steen Beveridge, of Buck Run, O.; Mr. Benjamin W. Steen, of Glen Dale, Ind.; Miss Anna J. Steen, of Martinstown, Mo., and others.

In our extensive correspondence we received very many requests for personal photographs, which we were unable to supply; and in order to gratify this expressed wish we have taken the liberty to insert among the illustrations in the book portraits of our own family.

It has been truly said that no one can climb very high on any genealogical tree without finding some dead branches, yet the writer feels a just pride in the good and honorable character of the family as a whole—a fact which should stimulate us and our posterity to act worthy of such parentage and relationship.

The book is now sent forth with the prayer that those who read these pages may belong to the Family of God, and have their names and record in the "LAME'S BOOK OF LIFE."

GENERAL INDEX.....	531

INTRODUCTION.

The name STEEN seems to be of Scandinavian origin, and indicative of solidity, strength, or force of character. It is closely allied to such names as CEPHAS in the Aramaic language, Peter in the Greek, Stein in the German, and Stone in the English—all of which signify the same thing, a rock, or stone, which implies firmness.

The early possessors of the name seem also to have maintained something of the character indicated thereby. Gustavus Adolphus, King of Sweden, who came to the throne in 1611, as a Christian hero and patriot fought for liberty of conscience, and led an army of sixty thousand men into Germany for the noble purpose of rescuing Protestants from the tyranny of the house of Austria, had an officer under his command whose name was STEEN.

In Norway and Denmark the name is still not uncommon; and near the close of the nineteenth century a number of families from these countries have emigrated to America and settled in the Northwestern and Pacific Coast States, with some of whom the writer has had correspondence or personal intercourse.

In 1891 Oscar II., King of Norway and Sweden, appointed a Mr. Steen to the position of Premier. The following is copied from a New York daily paper of May 25, 1891:

"The Conservative ministry has been overthrown because the Berner resolution was passed against its wishes by a vote of 59 to 55; and when the King requested the Radical Berner to form a new Cabinet he declined, and referred the King to his bitterest enemy, Mr. Steen, who is undoubtedly, after Sverdrup, the most eminent man in the party. King Oscar has, in acting on this advice, given a guarantee that he is a Constitutional King, who has accepted parliamentarism in good faith. Mr. Steen, who is the head master or principal of the public gymnasium in Stravenger, and has for many years been a leader of the more radical wing of the Liberal party in the Storting, is personally obnoxious to the King; and the general impression in Norway has been that Oscar II. would under no circumstances consent to any public recognition of him. Mr. Steen, as will be remembered, played a conspicuous part in the impeachment of the conservative ministry Selmer, and the contention of the Right has been that he prevaricated, and in other respects was unscrupulous in the selection of his means for ousting his enemies. He has, however, among the public-at-large the reputation of being an able and upright man, fearless and determined, and of great executive force. His radicalism is not at all alarming, referring chiefly to the extension of the suffrage, which ought long ago to have been granted; and the absolute equality of the two kingdoms. The only possible danger which the country may incur from his leadership is the further straining of the relations with Sweden; for the new Premier is not of a conciliatory temperament, and is imbued with a sense of 'Norse-Norse' independence to the very finger tips. It would be a great misfortune if the question of diplomatic representation were to be pressed to the point of arousing further hostility in Sweden, and thereby weakening the union."

IN HOLLAND OR THE NETHERLANDS the name has attracted greater attention from the fact that one of the most celebrated Dutch painters bore the name of Steen—the renowned Jan Steen—whose history is well known. The following item is copied from the "Library of Universal Knowledge":

"STEEN, JAN.—A celebrated Dutch painter, born in 1626, or according to others, in 1636, at Leyden, where his father was a brewer. He showed a predilection for art, which led to his being apprenticed to a German painter, Nicholas Knuepier, of Utrecht. Subsequently he became a pupil of Van Goyen, whose daughter Margaret he married. Very soon his repute became established. As he worked in a slow and elaborate manner, his gains were insufficient, and he started a brewery at Delft. Steen died in 1679 or 1689, leaving his family in very destitute case.

"As an artist of the Dutch school he ranks high, and his works are now much valued. In humor and spirit they are scarcely surpassed, and their coloring is clear, fresh and delicate. At times he attempted historical subjects, but his success in these was not great. It was in the homely and domestic scenes that his genius exhibited itself, and in this field he has scarcely since been equaled."

He was a relative of Rembrandt, and painted in all about three hundred pictures, among which is a fine portrait of himself in the Ryks Museum at Amsterdam. "The Feast of St. Nicholas" is one of his best and happiest productions, and represents his own family. His father and mother are in the background; his wife, in the foreground, extends her arms to a happy little girl, while six other children are included in the group. At the Louvre in Paris is one of his latest works, dated 1674—"A Feast at an Inn"—painted after he had opened his tavern, and representing the actual interior of the place, and valued at thirty thousand francs. See Century Magazine, Dec., 1893, pp. 175-8. See also J. Steen, Etude sur L'art en Hollande, by Van Westrhceenen (The Hague, 1856).

In visiting The Netherlands many years ago the writer found in The Hague fifteen families who bore the name of Steen, and in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and other cities a lesser number. In entering the Royal Museum and Picture Gallery at The Hague we presented a card to the conductor, who glanced at it a moment, then clasped our hand in both of his, exclaiming with animated countenance, "Steen! STEEN!" and then hurriedly led us to several famous pictures, and pointing to them with enthusiasm and apparent joy, cried out, "Jan Steen! JAN STEEN! JAN STEEN!" Thus, although we were far away from home, a stranger in a foreign land, the interest and pleasure of our sojourn there was greatly increased by the simple fact that we belong to The Steen Family.

In the sixteenth century the Roman Catholic persecution of Protestants was most appalling. The Duke of Alva, it is said, even surpassed the persecuting heathen emperors of Rome in his extreme cruelty while attempting to crush out the rising spirit of religious and political liberty; and according to Grotius destroyed the lives of one hundred thousand Protestants during the six years of his regency (1567-1573). And in consequence of these troubles many of the most upright citizens fled into other countries for safety; among them a family of the name of Steen crossed over the sea and located in Ayrshire, Scotland, where the descendants remained for many generations. They were a noble stock of Protestant Christians of an unyielding type, who had determined to maintain liberty of conscience and freedom in the worship of God at every hazard. The spirit of persecution which had prevailed so extensively in The Netherlands afterwards again arose in Scotland, and they were called to "endure hardness as good soldiers of Jesus Christ" and suffer imprisonment for loyalty to God and the Gospel as they understood it.

Our Scottish ancestral head, a devout and earnest Christian, was caused to languish for a considerable time at the "Bass Rock" of historical fame as the prison house of the Covenanters, and was married to an estimable Christian woman on the very day of his release, probably at declaration of indulgence in 1672. This island rock is situated near the mouth of the frith of Forth, three miles northeast of North Berwick, in the North Sea. It is nearly round, about one mile in circumference, four hundred feet high, traversed by a vast cavern, and inaccessible on all sides except at the southwest, where it is impossible to land in stormy weather. After the Restoration, King Charles II. purchased this island rock and fortress for £4,000, or about $20,000, as a prison for Covenanters. It was a stronghold very difficult to capture, so much so that a mere handful of the partisans of James II. held the place from June, 1691, to April, 1694, against all the forces sent against it by King William III., who afterwards had the fortifications demolished in 1701. It is now a private possession, let out to a keeper, who receives fees from visitors.

As early as the reign of James I. a family by the name of Steen crossed the Channel from Scotland into the North of Ireland, and located upon the banks of the Foyle, in the Province of Ulster, and County of Londonderry. This was probably about 1620, or perhaps a few years later. Here they continued to reside, notwithstanding the troublous times, and some at least escaped the terrible massacre of Protestants in Ireland in 1641. during the reign of Charles I. Other families remained in Scotland until a much later period. One family came over into Ireland during the protectorate of Oliver Cromwell, and settled first at Killinsky, in County Down, and afterwards located in Antrim, probably about 1653 or 1655. Still another family remained in Scotland until near the close of the reign of Charles II., under whom they had endured many privations, as well as imprisonment, for conscience sake. These came into Ireland about 1684 or 1685, and located in County Antrim, near a place called "The Vow," on the banks of the River Bann, not many miles from Coleraine. In the course of time there were families by the name of Steen living at Culmore, overlooking Loch Foyle, in the vicinity of Londonderry, Antrim, Coleraine, Balleney, Ballyghan, The Vow, etc. These no doubt were all from the same original stock, and possessed the characteristics of their forefathers—firmness in Christian faith, and fidelity to their principles in the midst of persecution and severe trials. Some of these kindred according to the flesh suffered in the terrible "siege of Derry," in 1688, when King James II. endeavored to destroy by starvation this stronghold of Protestantism. The siege had been kept up for one hundred and five days, when, under the command of William, the Prince of Orange, a man-of-war and two ships loaded with provisions arrived. It was with great difficulty that they could gain even an approach to the city, for the army of King James determined to prevent it if possible. A great chain had been stretched across the river to hinder the passage of any vessel, but the warship of the Prince of Orange came against it with such force as to break the chain, yet the rebound was so great as to throw the vessel near the shore, where it stuck in the mud. The enemy raised a shout of triumph and rushed forward to board the ships and capture all the soldiers, crew, vessels and provisions; but a broadside, simultaneously shot from all the canons on board, not only arrested the attack, but the concussion also drove the vessel from the mud-bank and caused it to float out into deep water, to the great joy and relief of those on board the ship. They succeeded in running past all the batteries and obstructions in the river, and in relieving the starving inhabitants of the city of Londonderry. The greatest cruelty had been practiced by the besiegers, and the utmost suffering endured by the besieged, who had eaten all their horses and dogs, and were said to be on their last ration of tallow and salted hide when the relief came. The garrison of SEVEN THOUSAND MEN had dwindled down to THREE THOUSAND, many of them having died of starvation while resenting the offer of a bribe of £2,000 or about $10,000 to any one who would open the gates to the enemy. They sent back their answer in the heroic message, "NO SURRENDER," and remained steadfast to the last.

In 1877, and again in 1896, the writer visited a number of families by the name of Steen living in the northern counties of Ireland, and in every instance found them to be earnest orthodox Presbyterian Christian people, several of whom were Presbyterian clergymen in charge of congregations, while others were ruling elders in the church. During the latter visit he was driven to the delightful home of John Steen, J. P., near Castlerock, in County Londonderry. It was a fine old Episcopal residence, which he had purchased at the time of the disestablishment. A flag was floating gracefully over it, which he thought was some British or Irish ensign; but it proved to be the Scotch-Irish Steen family Crest, or ancient coat-of-arms, which had been in use for more than two hundred and fifty years. On a scroll beneath the figure was the motto, "Ad Diem Tendo." Its rightful color is Presbyterian true blue, which symbolizes fidelity. The following is a small cut of the same, which he found in use among other Steen families, as in Belfast, as their coat-of-arms, used on writing paper and visiting cards.

It represents the fabled Phoenix bird rising from its own ashes, with extended wings, ready to fly away—an emblem of faith in God and hope of immortality, which even the dark days of fiery persecution could not destroy. This steadfast faith and heroic endurance was characteristic of the Steen family in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The writer has also found Steen families in Scotland, England, Canada, and the United States possessing in general the same characteristics.

Early in the eighteenth century several families of Steens removed from the North of Ireland to the British Colonies in America, settled in different localities, and have left a numerous posterity. Other families came at different times later on, and located in various portions of the country. They came with the great flow of population into the new country, which was mainly from the North of Ireland, and almost entirely Presbyterians; for the great Catholic-Irish immigration did not fairly commence until a much later period. "These people spread themselves rapidly, from 1725 to 1765, through a large portion of Eastern and Western Pennsylvania, and into North and South Carolina, becoming the basis of the Presbyterian Church in America"; and "constituting an element of the body politic second in value to no other, either in peace or war."

The writer remembers that when a mere child he heard his father speak of his Great-grandfather Steen and his large family. His name, we believe, was Richard Steen, but of this we can not be certain. Perhaps he came to the American Colonies with his children, but of this we have no record, and do not know. Of one thing, however, we may be sure, and that is, that he has left a very numerous posterity in this country. We think there can be no reasonable doubt but that Robert and Matthew Steen, who resided in Pennsylvania, and James and William Steen, who removed to South Carolina and were soldiers in the Revolutionary War, were all the sons of this man, and full brothers to each other. We were told in childhood that our great-grandfather, Robert Steen, had brothers who removed to South Carolina, and were soldiers in the Revolutionary Army.

In the following pages we shall first of all give the record, so far as known, of our great-grandfather, ROBERT STEEN, and his descendants, then present separate accounts of the various larger branches of the related Steen families, devoting a "book," or a section of the work, to each. An interrogation point (?) after a name or date indicates doubt.

REV. MOSES D. A. STEEN, D.D.

BOOK ONE.

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT STEEN.

Robert Steen was born near Coleraine, Ireland, not far from a place called "The Vow," about 1730; removed to the British Colonies in America about 1755; was married to Elizabeth Boyd about 1757 or 1758; and brought up a family of five children in comfortable circumstances, near Chestnut Level, in what is now Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

Robert Steen was one of the early immigrants who came over into the British Colonies in America from the North of Ireland, near the middle of the eighteenth century. He was probably one of the elder sons of Richard Steen (?), who was born about A. D. 1700, and perhaps came to America with his large family, together with other relatives and friends, to make their future home in this new country, and whose ancestors came from Scotland into Ireland, where they had lived for several generations. They belonged to a race of men of strong convictions, resolute purposes, and had already endured hardships for the sake of their religious principles. They determined to brave the dangers of the ocean, the trials of frontier life, the deprivations incident to a new country, the struggles and difficulties necessary to fell the forest, and to build homes for themselves and families in the new world. They landed in New York, but soon afterwards made their way to Pennsylvania, where, free from the depredations of the Indians, they would have a better opportunity to secure their own lands, and provide the necessities of life, with less of danger and more of comfort to themselves. In the large family of Richard Steen (?) there were several sons, among whom were Robert and Matthew, who settled in Pennsylvania; and James and William, who removed to the South and located permanently in Union District, South Carolina, and each became the paternal ancestor of a large branch of the Steen family residing in the Southern States.

Robert Steen was born not far from Coleraine, Ireland, probably about 1730 (?), and most likely on the old "Green Hill" farm, near a place called "The Vow," where there is a cemetery, an old mill site, and a school, which the writer visited in 1896. It is situated on the bank of the River Bann, about eight Irish miles from Coleraine, in County Antrim, and Province of Ulster, Ireland (?). When about twenty-five years of age he removed to the British Colonies with a large number of immigrants, relatives and friends, about the year 1755 (?). He was married to Miss Elizabeth Boyd, probably about 1757 or 1758 (?), acquired a farm, and established his home near Chestnut Level, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, not far from the Susquehanna River, where he brought up a family of three sons and two daughters in comfortable circumstances. He was a man of influence, a devout Presbyterian, a successful farmer, a patriotic citizen, opposed to the Tories, and strongly favoring American independence, having two brothers in the Revolutionary Army. He was a fine singer, especially fond of music and good society. He lived to a ripe old age, but the date of his death is not known to us. The following are the names of his children: Samuel, Robert, Mary, Elizabeth, and Alexander.

9. Martha Anna Leech, the ninth child, the fifth and youngest daughter of Josiah L. and Anne Steen Leech, was born near Fairview, Guernsey County, Ohio, May 15, 1853. She was married in Winterset, Madison County, Iowa, November 9, 1881, to George M. Violet — a merchant — he having been born near Oskaloosa, Iowa, July 1, 1855. Residence, Afton, Union County, Iowa. The following are their children:

I.—Claire J. Violet was born in Afton, Iowa, September 24, 1882.

VI.—Thomas Steen, a son of Samuel and Mary Mayers Steen, was born in Berkeley County, Virginia. He removed with his parents to their home and farm, near St. Clairsville, Belmont County, Ohio. He was married and brought up a family of children in Belmont County, O., where they continued for a long time to reside, at least up to the time of the Civil War, in 1861-65.

VII.—Samuel Steen, a son of Samuel and Mary Mayers Steen, was born in Berkeley County, Virginia. He came with his parents to their new home and farm, near St. Clairsville, Belmont County, Ohio, where he afterwards resided. He was by occupation a blacksmith, and used to live at Martin's Ferry, Belmont County, Ohio, near to Wheeling, West Virginia. During the period before the war he used to correspond with his cousin, Aaron F. Steen, who at that time lived near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio. He was married and brought up a family that lived in Ohio.

VIII.—Stephen Steen, a son of Samuel and Mary Mayers Steen, was probably born in Berkeley County, Virginia. He came with his parents when they located on their new farm near St. Clairsville, Belmont County, Ohio. He was married, and during the later portion of his life lived in Virginia. He died in old age in Berkeley County, Virginia, in 1891. Stephen and Mary Steen brought up a family. They had a married daughter living near Martinsburgh, Virginia, a few years ago.

She was brought by her parents from Virginia to their new home, on a farm near St. Clairsville, Belmont County, Ohio, where she continued to live until after the death of her parents. A Rev. Mr. Love now owns and lives upon the farm her father used to possess and cultivate. Two of her brothers, who were both single at the time, went away from their home in Ohio many years ago, and the family ceasing to hear from them, naturally supposed they had died unmarried. Mary Ellen Steen was a devoted Christian, a member of Adena Presbyterian Church. She lived in the blessed hope, and died a triumphant death at the home of her son, near Emerson, Jefferson County, Ohio, April 18, 1890, in the 71st year of her age. She was married near Shepherdstown, Belmont County, Ohio, December 3, 1847, to William Shields, he having been born in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, November 26, 1804. The following are their children:

1. Joseph B. Shields, the eldest child and only son of William and Mary Ellen Steen Shields, was born in Belmont County, Ohio, August 15, 1848 — a useful Christian man, a practical farmer, and a dairyman. She was married at Emerson, Ohio, December 29, 1881, to Harvey Watson Graham — a farmer — he having been born at Morristown, Ohio, February 11, 1857. The following are their children:

CHAPTER II.

Robert Steen, the second child and son of Robert and Elizabeth Boyd Steen, was born near Chestnut Level, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, about 1763 (?). He was brought up on his father's farm and spent his whole life near the place. He was a bright, intelligent, and industrious man — a school teacher by profession — but was a cripple, suffering from a diseased spine. He was never married, and died while he was comparatively a young man.

CHAPTER III.

Mary Steen, called "Polly," the third child and eldest daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Boyd Steen, was born near Chestnut Level, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, about 1767 (?), and spent her whole life upon the farm, taking care of her parents while they lived, and afterwards making the place her home. She was never married.

CHAPTER IV.

Elizabeth Steen, called "Betsy," the fourth child and second daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Boyd Steen, was born near Chestnut Level, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, about 1770 (?), and was brought up on her father's farm. She was never married, but resided with her parents, and with her sister took care of them so long as they lived. After her parents' death she and her sister lived together on the place, in possession of the property. She outlived her sister and brothers, and died about 1838 or 1839. After her death a letter was written to her brother, Alexander Steen, in Ohio, to come and see after the estate, but he had died a year or two previous to that time, and none of his children went back to Pennsylvania to see after their interest in the property.

CHAPTER V.

Alexander Steen, the fifth and youngest child and third son of Robert and Elizabeth Boyd Steen, was born near Chestnut Level, in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, February 14, 1773 — (more than three years before the declaration of American independence) — and brought up on his father's farm, which was not far from the Susquehanna River. In early manhood he removed to Berkeley County, Virginia, where he remained several years. He was married at Martinsburgh, Berkeley County, Virginia, February 2, 1803, to Miss Agnes Nancy Faris, daughter of a prominent citizen of that place, she having been born there, March 2, 1777, and died at the residence of her eldest son, Aaron Faris Steen, near Youngsville, Adams County, Ohio, November 17, 1852, aged 75 years, 8 months, and 15 days.*

They removed to Kentucky in 1805, and settled permanently near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, in 1820, where they spent the remainder of their lives. They had a family of eight children, whose record is given in "The Steen Family," Book One, Chapter V.

County, Kentucky, where he "opened out" a farm. Here he built a substantial hewed log house, two stories high, and comprising several good rooms. In this house, which was considered quite an excellent residence in those early days, he continued to reside while cultivating the farm for nearly fifteen years. In the summer of 1876 the writer, accompanied by his father, visited this "old Kentucky home"; was shown over the farm and through the house; the room where his father was born, in 1807, and the grounds where he had played when a child. Alexander Steen while living in Kentucky, was thrown from his horse, and one of his legs was broken, and it became slightly shorter than the other, making him a little lame ever afterwards. He was not only a successful farmer, but a popular music teacher, and taught old-fashioned singing schools in many localities, and for many years. And as music books could not easily be obtained, he had to write them for his pupils, and became quite remarkable for the rapidity, neatness of execution, and the skill he acquired in this regard. In 1820 he removed from Kentucky with his family, and located upon a farm two miles east of Winchester, in Adams County, Ohio, where he continued to reside for several years. This farm was situated on the west side of Brush Creek, and is now on the turnpike road leading from Winchester to Buck Run. A school-house was built upon it a few years ago, near the iron bridge across the creek. He afterwards purchased a large farm one mile northwest of the Mount Leigh Presbyterian Church (three miles from Youngsville, four miles from Winchester, and about two miles from the present railway station at Seman, Adams County, Ohio), where he built a large two-story hewed log residence, and spent the remainder of his life, an enterprising farmer and successful music teacher. The Mount Leigh Church, although a country church, was a place of religious importance in those early days, where people gathered for worship from many miles around; and it still continues to be a center of usefulness, with services every Sabbath and an active membership of nearly two hundred, sending forth excellent men and women into the various walks of life. Alexander Steen was a man of strong character, an earnest Presbyterian, in which faith he had been brought up by his parents, in Pennsylvania, and exerted an extensive influence in the community. His wife's parents were also Presbyterian, and all her brothers and sisters continued to be so, except one brother, who married a lady of another denomination and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs.

Steen both descended from a long line of Scotch-Irish Presbyterian ancestors, and were themselves members of the Mount Leigh Presbyterian Church for many years. Alexander Steen died at his home, near Mount Leigh, April 30, 1837, aged 64 years, 2 months, and 16 days. After his death Mrs. Agnes Nancy Steen lived with her children until November 17, 1852, when she died at the residence of her eldest son, Aaron F. Steen, near Youngsville, Ohio, and was buried by the side of her husband, in the Mount Leigh cemetery. To Alexander and Agnes Nancy Steen were born the following eight children: Jane, Rebecca A., Aaron F., R. Wilson, Catherine E., John W., Alexander B., and Josiah Y. Steen.

I.—Jane Steen, the eldest child and daughter of Alexander and Agnes Nancy Steen, was born near Martinsburgh, Berkeley County, Virginia, September 19, 1803. She was brought by her parents to their home, near Flemingsburgh, Kentucky, when only two years old, where she spent fifteen years of happy girlhood school days. She removed again with her parents to Ohio, and died the next year, unmarried, at her father's residence, two miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, September 10, 1821, in the 18th year of her age. She is said to have been a beautiful and accomplished young lady, very much beloved.

II.—Rebecca Ann Steen the second child and daughter of Alexander and Agnes Nancy Steen, was born near Martinsburgh, Berkeley County, Virginia, November 27, 1804, and was brought in the arms of her mother, when an infant, to their home in Kentucky. She spent fifteen years of happy life upon her father's farm, near Flemingsburgh, Kentucky, and in attending school, helping her mother, etc. In the summer of 1820 she removed with her parents to their home near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, where she continued to reside. She died near Winchester, Ohio, October 15, 1837, aged 32 years, 10 months, and 18 days.

Rebecca A. Steen was married at the residence of her father, near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, by Aaron Moore, J. P., October 22, 1823, to Samuel Rhoades, a son of Anthony and Jennie Gillespie Rhoades — a farmer by occupation — he having been born in Pennsylvania in 1803, and died in Adams County, Ohio, in 1859, aged 56 years.

To Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades were born the following seven children:

1. Sarah Jane Rhoades, the eldest child and daughter of Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, in 1824, and died unmarried in 1842, aged 18 years.
2. Samuel David Belt Rhoades, the second child and eldest son of Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, in 1826. From 1856 until his death he was quite feeble, and suffered from lung disease. He traveled in the South considerably for his health, his brother, Anthony A. Rhoades, accompanying and caring for him. In returning from Galveston, Texas, whither they had gone, and while crossing the Gulf of Mexico on their way to New Orleans, the steamer on which they journeyed was caught in a terrible storm, and it was thought the vessel would be wrecked and all on board would perish. In the midst of the raging storm and the great signals of distress, he died, January, 1859, in the 33d year of his age. At the time of his death his brother was also very sick, and unable to lift his head from his pillow. The vessel at length reached New Orleans in safety, and S. D. Belt Rhoades was buried in the potter's field two days later, at the request of his brother, by the hand of strangers.
3. Cynthia Ann Rhoades, the second daughter and third child of Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, September 22, 1828, and spent her whole life in the county. She made her home a good deal of the time in the family of her uncle, Aaron F. Steen. Cynthia A. Rhoades was married near Winchester, Ohio, in June, 1855, to Joseph K. Vance, and died April 28, 1857, in the 29th year of her age. Her husband afterwards died in Ripley, Ohio. They had no children.
4. Nancy Ann Rhoades, the fourth child and third daughter of Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Ohio, January 19, 1832, and died near the Mount Leigh Presbyterian Church, March 7, 1870, in the 39th year of her age. She studied in Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, but spent nearly her whole life in Adams County, Ohio. Nancy A. Rhoades was married about two miles from the Mount Leigh Church, at the residence of her uncle, Colonel Josiah Y. Steen, by the Rev. Samuel Van Dyke, June 11, 1857, to Absalom Day, a son of Absalom and Elizabeth Earhart Day, who as early as the year 1800 had settled upon a farm three miles east of Williamsburgh, Clermont County, Ohio, and afterwards located in Brown County, Ohio, where this Absalom Day was born, December 26, 1817, and died at the residence of his son, Erastus Henry Day, in Fredericktown, Madison County, Missouri, May 10, 1897, aged 79 years, 4 months, and 13 days. His body was tenderly laid away to rest in the Masonic Cemetery, May 12, 1897. He was a man of sterling worth, highly respected, a devout Christian, and an industrious and useful citizen. To Absalom and Nancy A. Rhoades Day were born the following four children:

I.—Icedora Day, the eldest child and daughter of Absalom and Nancy A. Day, was born in Mount Orab, Brown County, Ohio, July 15, 1858. After the death of her mother, in 1870, she resided for one year in the family of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Beveridge, near Buck Run, Adams County, Ohio. She afterwards made her home, until 1893, in the family of her uncle, Colonel Josiah Y. Steen; and from 1893 until 1896 she lived at Mount Washington, near Cincinnati, Ohio. She early united with the Mount Leigh Presbyterian Church, and became an active, devout, and useful member of the church, and of society in general. She was married by the Rev. U. G. Humphrey, at the residence of A. C. Butler, near Seman, Adams County, Ohio, March 31, 1896, to William Wiggins Whittaker, a son of John and Sarah Ann Whittaker, he having been born at South Point, Franklin County, Missouri, near the Missouri River, June 28, 1855. Mr. Whittaker is a house carpenter by occupation, a devout Christian, and a member of the Presbyterian Church. Residence, Murphysboro, Jackson County, Illinois.

II.—Effie Day, the second daughter of Absalom and Nancy A. Day, was born near Youngsville, Adams County, Ohio, July 15, 1861. She was married at the same place by the Rev. George Fulton, October 3, 1883, to Franklin LaFayette Higgins, a son of James P. and Mary Higgins, he having been born near West Union, Adams County, Ohio, July 13, 1859. James P. Higgins, the father of Franklin

L. Higgins, was born in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, and came to Adams County, Ohio, in 1837, where he was married, and has since resided upon a farm near West Union, Ohio, adjoining that upon which his son now lives. Franklin L. Higgins and his family reside upon a farm two and one-half miles west of West Union, Adams County, Ohio. The following are their children:

1. Nellie Etta Higgins, the eldest child of Franklin L. and Effie Day Higgins, was born near West Union, Ohio, January 17, 1885.
2. Elvis Earl Higgins, the second child of Franklin L. and Effie Day Higgins, was born near West Union, Ohio, October 27, 1889.
3. Anna Marie Higgins, the third child and second daughter of Franklin L. and Effie Day Higgins, was born near West Union, Ohio, November 13, 1893.

III.—Anna Josephine Day, the third daughter of Absalom and Nancy A. Day, was born near Youngsville, Adams County, Ohio, September 24, 1863, and died in Oregon City, Oregon, March 3, 1889, aged 25 years, 5 months, and 21 days. She continued to live at or near the place of her birth until the autumn of 1884, when she removed to Oregon City, Oregon, and made her home in the family of her uncle, Thomas W. Rhoades, proprietor of the "Cliff House," in that city. Miss A. Josephine Day was married by the Rev. S. P. Davis, pastor of the Baptist Church in Oregon City, Oregon, August 11, 1886, to Hezekiah H. Johnson, a son of Rev. Hezekiah Johnson, a pioneer missionary in Oregon, he having been born in Oregon City, July 23, 1849, and where he has ever resided. In 1891 Mr. Johnson was the esteemed County Clerk of Clackamas County, and a popular official. Residence, Oregon City, Oregon. To Hezekiah H. and A. Josephine Day Johnson were born in Oregon City the following children:

1. Violet Olive Johnson was born June 12, 1887.
2. Anna Day Johnson was born October 9, 1888, and died January 16, 1889.

IV.—Ann Elizabeth Day, the fourth daughter of Absalom and Nancy A. Rhoades Day, was born near Youngsville, Adams County, Ohio, October 4, 1866. Residence, Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio.

5. Thomas Wilson Rhoades, the fifth child and second son of Samuel and Rebecca A. Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, August 28, 1833, and spent his early life in that region. He was apprenticed to William Sharp, under whom he learned the brickmason's trade. He early became quite proficient in his work, and molded all the bricks and assisted in building near Mount Leigh, Ohio, the large brick residence of his uncle, Aaron F. Steen, in 1849, when he was only a youth of 17 years. In 1850 he removed to Berlin, Sangamon County, Illinois, and two years later caught the California fever, and with many other emigrants crossed the plains, expecting to make a fortune. For some time afterwards he was superintendent of mason work in the erection of some Government buildings in Los Angeles, for which he received six dollars a day. After several years in California he became a traveling agent. In 1857 he located in Portland, Oregon, and for about fifteen years worked there at his trade, and in Boise City, Idaho. About 1875 he removed to Oregon City, and opened "The Cliff House," a hotel, of which he continued to be the genial proprietor until his death. He was well known in Oregon City and throughout Clackamas County, and always had a pleasant word for everybody. In 1884 he made an extensive journey in the Eastern States, visiting many relatives and friends in Ohio whom he had not seen since his boyhood days, in 1850. On returning to Oregon he brought with him his sister's daughter, Miss Anna Josephine Day, who afterwards made her home in his family. He died of pneumonia after a short illness in Oregon City, February 17, 1885, aged 51 years, 5 months and 20 days. Thomas W. Rhoades was married in Portland, Oregon, January 1, 1861, to Miss Anna Eliza White, a daughter of Judge William L. and Mary E. III.—William Samuel Rhoades was born in Portland, Oregon, September 22, 1875—a clerk by occupation. Residence, Oregon City, Oregon.

6. Anthony Alexander Rhoades, the sixth child and third son of Samuel and Rebecca Ann Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, September 22, 1834, and died in Albany, Oregon, February 3, 1890. His mother died when he was a little child, only three years old, and he was brought up in the family of his uncle, Alexander B. Steen, near Mount Leigh, Ohio, where he worked on the farm in summer and attended school in winter, until he was eighteen years of age. In May, 1855, he removed from Adams County, Ohio, to Sangamon County, Illinois, where he made his home for many years. In 1858 he left his regular work to travel with and take care of his brother, S. D. Belt Rhoades, who at that time was in very poor health, and gradually kept on growing weaker until at length he died while they were crossing the Gulf of Mexico, and in the midst of a terrible storm, which took place in January, 1859. In 1862 he went to the Pacific Coast, where he spent more than three years, principally in Oregon, and returned to Illinois in the autumn of 1865, being on the stormy Atlantic on his 31st birthday. From San Francisco, California, he made the trip in thirty-six days; spent two weeks in Greystown, Nicaragua; afterwards continued his journey to New York, going on board the vessel "Ericsson," which was propelled by hot air, and safely reached his destination. From 1865 until 1883 he resided continually in Sangamon County, Illinois, and worked at his trade—a plasterer and calciminer; then permanently removed to Albany, Oregon, where he spent the remainder of his days. In 1857 he became a member of the Christian Church, or Disciples of Christ; was ordained a deacon in 1869, and continued an active worker in the Master's cause until his death. He was a most agreeable companion, witty, full of jokes, and always very fond of music, even in his boyhood days. He possessed a rich, sweet voice, acquired great skill. And was a popular music teacher and leader of the choir in the church for many years. In the winter of 1889-90 he suffered from a severe attack of la grippe, or influenza, which finally terminated in pneumonia, from which he died at his home, in Albany, Oregon, quietly passing away from earth in the full hope of a glorious immortality. Anthony A. Rhoades was married by the Rev. Perry Bennett, a Baptist minister, in Berlin, Sangamon County, Illinois, in December, 1860, to Miss Nancy A. Harmon, a daughter of Henry and Mary Harmon, of Berlin, she having been born in 1841, and died December 12, 1866, aged 25 years. Her body was laid to rest in the Island Grove cemetery. Anthony A. Rhoades was married a second time by the Rev. Charles Rowe, at Berlin, Ill., March 21, 1869, to Miss Mary Frances Yates, a daughter of Thomas and Nancy Higgins Yates, she having been born in Berlin, Illinois, March 28, 1838. Her father's brother, Richard Yates, was the War Governor of Illinois and United States Senator. In March, 1889, the twentieth anniversary of the married life of Anthony A. and Mary F. Rhoades was delightfully celebrated at their residence, in Albany, Oregon. Many relatives and friends of the family were gathered together, and proceeded with a most enjoyable programme. The bride and groom of twenty years expressed their satisfaction with each other, and renewed their vows of faithfulness until death. The following poem, written for the occasion by J. B. Hughes, a special friend of the family, was sung by himself and others:

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

We've come to help you celebrate
 Your china wedding day;
 To bring remembrance of the time
 When every heart was gay.
 We will partake of pie and cake,
 And spend an hour or so
 To wish you joy, as others did
 Just twenty years ago.

You've wandered far from that dear place
 Where childhood's days were spent,
 Where youthful sports in early life
 To bless a while were sent;
 Where hearts took fire with love's desire,
 Consumed and melted so,
 The preacher called and made you one
 Just twenty years ago.

We can not be the same dear friends
 Who met to bless you then,
 Reflecting back your happiness
 Again and yet again.

You've come away, and wandered they,
 And some are sleeping low,
 And all so changed you ne'er can meet
 Like twenty years ago.

The wheel of time is rolling on;
 How swift the years do pass,
 To change us all from youth to age,
 And reap us down at last.
 But happy we will try to be
 While dwelling here below,
 And be as true as those you knew
 Some twenty years ago.

You occupy the middle ground
 'Twixt youth and crumbling age;
 The silver hairs begin to mark
 You for another stage.
 May purest love draw thee above,
 Nor ever cease to flow
 For us now here, and those so dear
 Of twenty years ago.

'Tis well to pause mid cares of life
 And cast a backward look,
 And in your thoughts live o'er again
 The time thy courtship took;
 To well decide for groom and bride,
 'Mongst all that each did know,
 Which one to choose and not refuse,
 Some twenty years ago.

Oh, happy choice, where love directs,
 And makes the heart to move!
 And you have both had time enough
 Your constancy to prove.
 Again we wish each china dish
 With good things may o'erflow,
 And joys to bless be never less
 Than twenty years ago.

He died a devout Christian, at the home of his mother, in Albany, Linn County, Oregon, May 29, 1897, in the twentieth year of his age.

7. Aaron Martin Rhoades, the seventh child and fourth son of Samuel and Rebecca Ann Steen Rhoades, was born near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, in October, 1837, and died in November, 1837, when only a few weeks old.

III.—Aaron Faris Steen, the third child and eldest son of Alexander and Agnes Nancy Faris Steen, was born two miles north of Flemingsburgh, Fleming County, Kentucky, August 23, 1807, and died at his home in Xenia, Ohio, February 15, 1881, aged 73 years, 5 months and 23 days. He spent his happy boyhood days on the farm in that "old Kentucky home," and was brought by his parents to their new location near Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, in 1820, when thirteen years of age. Here he grew to manhood, assisting his father upon the farm in summer, and attending school in winter; and when a young man taught school for a while. He also devoted much attention to music, in which he became quite proficient, and very popular as an instructor. During the winter months he taught many singing schools in various parts of the county, and for many years was leader of the music in the Mount Leigh Presbyterian Church. His social qualities and natural genial disposition made him quite a general favorite in the society of both old and young. Aaron F. Steen was married at the residence of Michael Freeman, on Scioto Brush Creek, ten miles east of West Union, Adams County, Ohio, March 25, 1830, to Miss Mary Freeman, a daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Duncan Freeman, she having been born in the same house in which she was married, October 7, 1810. The Rev. John Meek, who had been engaged to solemnize the marriage, was unable to reach the place, because of the high waters then prevailing and the lack of bridges across the streams; and Thomas Williams, a Justice of the Peace, who was present as an invited guest, performed the marriage ceremony.

Moses and Nancy Knight Freeman, the grandparents of Mary Freeman, were born in England, married in London, and emigrated to America about 1762, and located upon a farm in Queen Anne County, in the British colony of Maryland, near the eastern shore of the Chesapeake Bay, where they brought up a family of several children.

Michael and Elizabeth Duncan Freeman, the parents of the bride, were among the early settlers in the Northwest Territory, having removed from the eastern shore of Maryland and located on Blue Creek, in what is now Adams County, Ohio, in the year 1797—less than ten years after the first permanent white settlement was made in what is now the great State of Ohio. A few years later they secured a large farm, situated on both sides of Scioto Brush Creek, at the mouth of Burley's Run, where they made their permanent home. Here they built a large hewed log house, a story and a half high, with an enormous stone chimney and ample fireplace, which at that time was considered a fine residence, in which Mary Freeman was born and married. The bride's mother was a daughter of Charles and Keziah Duncan, of Queen Anne County, Maryland, who were the parents of several children, one of whom at least (Mary Duncan) was married in Maryland to John Williams, and removed in that early day to the Far West, probably in the same company of immigrants with Michael and Elizabeth Duncan Freeman, but locating first in Kentucky, and afterwards coming into what is now Adams County, Ohio. After his marriage Aaron F. Steen located upon a farm which he had leased for five years, situated on Brush Creek, at the mouth of Elk Run, two miles east of Winchester, Ohio. Here, upon an elevation overlooking the stream, and near a fine spring, he built a comfortable log cabin and went to house-keeping. Soon afterwards he united with the Presbyterian Church at Mount Leigh, as also did his wife, she having previously been connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church at Blue Creek ever since she was thirteen years old. Both were devoted and earnest Christians, active and useful members of the church. For nearly five years Aaron F. Steen successfully and profitably cultivated the farm on Brush Creek, but in the autumn of 1834, his lease having nearly expired, his father-in-law, now growing old, and wishing to retire from the business, offered him favorable terms to come and take charge of his large farm. He accepted the terms, and soon afterwards removed with his family to the old Freeman homestead, near the headwaters of the east fork of Scioto Brush Creek, two miles above the mouth of Blue Creek, and about ten miles from Rome, a village on the Ohio River. This farm is located on the main road leading from West Union to Portsmouth, about ten miles east of West Union and about twenty-six from Portsmouth. In front of the house was a beautiful grassy lawn, and further on the creek, bordered with rocky cliffs crowned with evergreen spruce and cedar trees, quite romantic. From one cliff to another across the creek extended a high footbridge, with a railing on either side. Along the rear of the house was a wide veranda or porch, from the north end of which was an entrance to the kitchen and dining-room, and at the south end a bedroom. Back of the house there was a fine orchard; south of this one hundred yards was Burley's Run, while just beyond was "The Ridge" or Sugar Camp of many delightful associations. Away to the east and across the creek were the principal agricultural lands. The surrounding country was hilly, almost mountainous, for the hills were large, covered with finest timber and inhabited by wild beasts.

Mr. Steen was scarcely yet settled upon the old Freeman farm when Michael Freeman sickened and died, April 14, 1835. This sad event disarranged his plans, but again terms were offered which he accepted, and continued in charge of the farm for thirteen years, making farming his principal business, though he also taught many singing schools. During the years of residence on Scioto Brush Creek Mr. and Mrs. Steen were members and regular attendants of the Presbyterian Church at West Union, ten miles away, but for their accommodation services were often held in their own house. The pastor was the Rev. John P. Van Dyke, a man of sterling worth, and faithful in doctrinal instruction. The Seceders held regular services at Wait's Mill, on Blue Creek, once a month, which they usually attended, as it was near their home, the second story of the mill having been fitted up for church purposes. Aaron F. and Mary Steen were, on September 1, 1838, regularly dismissed from the Mt. Leigh Church to unite with the church in West Union, where they were duly received and continued as such until March 24, 1840, when they were again received into the church at Mt. Leigh. They were devotedly attached to their children, and earnest in their religious instruction; daily morning and evening family worship was regularly observed in the household. The Bible and the Shorter Catechism were the text-books of study on the Sabbath, which by them was a day devoted to religious reading and worship, and at length it was their privilege and joy to see all their children who lived to maturity connected with the church.

Aaron F. Steen was a tall man, just six feet high, with pale blue eyes, fair skin, light hair, and beard a little sandy. He grew up slender, but when he was older became fleshy, and weighed over two hundred pounds. His wife was a short, slender little woman of dark complexion, black eyes and hair, energetic and sprightly, like her mother, but in later years she also became more fleshy. About 1843 Mr. Steen purchased a farm near his father's old home, on Mt. Leigh, in which neighborhood all his brothers resided. This farm he leased for a term of years to a man who built a house and stable, cleared a few fields, cultivated the land, and put the place in good repair. This farm was situated on the main road from Winchester to the Mt. Leigh Church, three miles east of Winchester, one mile and a half from Mt. Leigh, and two miles from Youngsville, Ohio. The Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Virginia Railway now passes directly through it, just back of the orchard and the barn. After having settled the Freeman estate, on August 31, 1848, Mr. Steen removed to his new home, in the neighborhood of Mt. Leigh, several wagons being loaded with goods, and a number of persons driving the stock over the rough and hilly way, a distance of about twenty miles. To this new home, in addition to his own family, he brought his wife's mother*; his wife's oldest sister, Nancy K. Freeman, who never married; and his wife's brother's daughter, Sarah M. K. F. Freeman, then only a little child, where they all continued to reside. Here Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Freeman, the mother of Mrs. Steen, died, April 23, 1851, aged 83 years, 7 months and 2 days. Her body was taken to the old cemetery on Blue Creek and tenderly laid away to rest by the side of her husband.

* Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Freeman, being in poor health, did not come to Mount Leigh until November, 1850, after the new house was built, in the meantime living with her son, James Freeman, on Scioto Brush Creek, near the old homestead.

AARON F. STEEN,
(Born 1807; Died 1881.)

At Mt. Leigh the whole family were regular attendants at the church and Sabbath-school, of which the Rev. James Dunlap was pastor, and by whom all the living children were baptized in the church on Sunday morning, October 2, 1848.

Aaron F. Steen having previously been elected, was duly ordained and installed a ruling elder of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, December 1, 1849, which office he held for many years, and frequently represented the session as a member of Chillicothe Presbytery. The summer of 1849 was one of unceasing toil on the farm, and it was fortunate that the boys were large enough to render considerable assistance. Mr. Steen had a peculiar tact in making even small boys useful, without overtaxing their strength, and this summer every boy had his mission to fill. The bricks were made and burned principally by the boys, under the direction of William Sharp and his apprentice, Thomas W. Rhoades; and late in the fall a fine, large, two-story brick residence was built and a roof put upon it. The next season (1850) it was finished inside and furnished, and a large, new bank barn erected; and thus improvements were going on. On this farm Mr. Steen continued to reside for seventeen years, an enterprising, successful man, and an influential citizen. In the summer of 1865 he sold the farm near Mt. Leigh and bought a small tract of land on West Second Street, adjoining the city of Xenia, Ohio, to which he removed with his family, and where he spent the remaining sixteen years of his life. Here himself and wife united with the First Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. William T. Findley, D.D., was pastor at that time. He cultivated the little farm and with his eldest son kept a provision store in Xenia. In 1874 a delightful family reunion was held in his home, near Xenia, at which all his living descendants were present. Excellent music enlivened the occasion, old associations were revived, and many amusing incidents connected with early life recalled. An artist was present, who took a picture of the entire group, including the family residence. Before they separated, religious services were held, in which all heartily joined, every member of the family over ten years of age being a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. The Golden Wedding, or fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron F. Steen, was duly celebrated at their residence, on Thursday, March 25, 1880, at which many friends and relatives were gathered from different counties and States; and all concurred in the opinion that it was one of the most delightful occasions of the kind they had ever witnessed. Something like the following order was observed: Ceremony; congratulations; historical addresses — "The Steen Family in Europe," by Rev. M. D. A. Steen, of Ludlow, Kentucky; "The Steen Family in America," by Prof. W. Freeman Steen, of Cincinnati, Ohio; "The Steen Family — Present Generation," by Dr. John A. Steen, of Ripley, Ohio; "Reminiscences of His Early Life," by Mr. Aaron F. Steen; "Recollections of the Wedding Fifty Years Ago," by the only guest now living, Mrs. Catherine E. Blair, of North Liberty, Ohio; "The Characteristics of the Steen Family," by William Ferguson, Esq., of Xenia, Ohio. Letters of regret were read from Prof. E. W. Steen, of Knoxville, Tennessee; Mr. Alexander B. Steen, of Winchester, Ohio; Prof. Silas M. Steen, of Washington C. H., Ohio; and Mr. William A. Blair, of Eaton, Indiana. Among the presents received was an elegant gold-headed cane, from Dr. John A. Steen, of Ripley, Ohio.

Not long after this joyful occasion Mr. Steen's health began to fail, and he grew weaker until his death, which occurred at his residence, on Tuesday morning, February 15, 1881, in the 74th year of his age. The funeral took place from the Presbyterian church on the Thursday following, conducted by the Rev. F. M. Wood, and his body was lovingly laid to rest in Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia. He was a man highly respected and much beloved by all who knew him.

Mrs. Mary Freeman Steen, after the death of her husband, rented the place and moved into the city, with her daughter, where they lived together until after the latter's marriage, in 1885, and for two years afterwards resided with her in Yellow Springs, Ohio. Since 1887, and until her death, she lived with her son, in Knoxville, Tennessee, and became a member of the Third (Southern) Presbyterian Church in that city. She also made extensive visits to her daughter, who at different times lived in Westboro, Massachusetts, and Cincinnati, Ohio. Well does the writer remember how that when he was a child, and guilty of some misdoing, she used to lead him to some quiet place alone, lovingly, earnestly, and often tearfully tell him of his fault, and then kneel down with him and pray to God for pardon and His grace to make him a better boy. God was pleased to bless her faithful instructions and prayers to his conversion, and the life-work of a Christian minister. She was a woman well known wherever she resided, and one who exerted a wide religious influence. She was noted for generous hospitality, and a genial, social, and benevolent disposition, which made her always ready to make sacrifices for the good of others. After an illness of about two months, she died at the residence of her son, No. 19 Pearl Place, Knoxville, Tennessee, at 6:30 A.M., July 27, 1895, in the 85th year of her age, rejoicing in hope of a glorious immortality, leaving her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren to mourn her loss, but to "rise up and call her blessed." She was the last surviving member of her father's family, which came into Ohio in 1797. Her body was taken to Ohio and tenderly laid by the side of her husband, in the beautiful Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia. "Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have a right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city."

To Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen were born the following children: W. Freeman, E. Watson, S. Martin, J. Truman, Moses D. A., Josiah James, S. Catherine, Isaac Birt, and William Wirt Steen.

1. Wilson Freeman Steen, the eldest son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born two miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, May 11, 1831, and died in Xenia, Ohio, March 20, 1883, aged 51 years, 10 months, and 9 days. When a little child, in the autumn of 1834 or very early in the spring of 1835, he was taken by his parents to the old home of his grandfather, Michael Freeman, on Scioto Brush Creek, two miles west of Blue Creek, in Jefferson Township, Adams County, Ohio, where he spent his happy boyhood days, attended school, and assisted his father upon the farm. In the summer of 1848 he removed with his parents to their new home, three miles east of Winchester, on the road to the Mt. Leigh Church, where he continued to work upon the farm in summer and go to school in the winter. He was a regular attendant at church and Sabbath-school, a diligent student, an energetic and industrious young man. He early gave his heart to Christ, and united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, in 1849, and ever afterwards maintained a devout, consistent, and useful Christian life. After he became of age he spent one year in Delaware County, Indiana, where he taught school on Jake's Creek, four miles north of Muncie, near the residence of his uncle, Isaac Freeman, with whom he boarded. In 1853 he returned to Adams County, Ohio, and engaged in teaching near the place of his birth. Like his father, grandfather, and great-grandfather Steen, he was always very fond of music, and possessed a natural talent for it, which he cultivated to the highest degree. In musical institutes, under competent leaders, and at a musical Normal school in Decatur, Ohio, under the direction of Prof. Dwight H. Baldwin, he was thoroughly qualified and became a popular and successful teacher of vocal and instrumental music. He taught many classes in Adams, Brown, and Clermont Counties, often so many as three at different places, upon each secular day of the week, and for some time resided in Williamsburgh, Ohio. In 1860 he removed to Xenia, Ohio, and followed his chosen profession; was associated with his father in a provision store, and for a time carried on the Xenia marble works. His services were in constant demand at musical institutes, and as leader of church choirs and singing classes. In 1867 he removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, and opened a store for the sale of musical instruments; also leader of the music in the First Presbyterian Church. In the summer of 1877 he removed to Ludlow, Kentucky, just across the river, and himself and family united with the First Presbyterian Church there, of which at that time his brother was pastor. He was ordained and installed a ruling elder in that church September 15, 1878, in which position he was an efficient church officer and a very useful man. As leader of the music and teacher in the Sabbath-school his work was exceedingly profitable. W. Freeman Steen was a man of sterling worth and unflinching integrity: a devout Christian for many years, having been connected with the Presbyterian churches at Mt. Leigh, Xenia, Cincinnati, Ohio, and finally at Ludlow, Kentucky. He was by nature possessed of a kind heart and gentle spirit; was always interested in every good work, and constantly making friends. In the autumn of 1882 failing health obliged him to cease from all business, and he returned to Xenia, Ohio, to spend his remaining days. Here he gradually grew weaker, but continued very meek, patient and uncomplaining to the last. He died March 20, 1883, in the assured hope of a blessed inheritance, and his body was laid away to rest in the beautiful Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia, Ohio.

Prof. W. Freeman Steen was married by the Rev. William Fee, in Xenia, Ohio, December 25, 1862, to Miss Emma Marie Stipp, a daughter of Dr. Nathan B. and Eliza J. Stipp, she having been born in Bellbrook, Greene County, Ohio, October 8, 1842, and died of paralysis, in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 3, 1899, aged 57 years. Her body was laid beside her husband, in Xenia cemetery, October 6, 1899. To Prof. W. Freeman and Emma M. Steen were born the following children:

I.—Edith Marie Steen, the eldest child and only daughter of Prof. W. Freeman and Emma M. Steen, was born in Xenia, Ohio, March 28, 1864. She was married in Cincinnati, Ohio, September 17, 1882 (?), by the Rev. Edward Anderson (?), to Charles William Bogart, the only son of John H. and Anna M. Bogart, he having been born in Ludlow, Kentucky, April 20, 1864. They have resided in Cincinnati, Ohio; Ludlow, Kentucky; Covington, Kentucky; Hamilton, Ohio, and Buffalo, New York. Mr. C. William Bogart is a good musician, an excellent wood engraver, and a skillful machinist—manufacturer of gas engines. Residence, Buffalo, New York. The following are their children:

1. Charles Franklin Bogart was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, July 12, 1883.
2. Edwin Richard Bogart was born in Ludlow, Kentucky, December 28, 1885.
3. John Albert Bogart was born in Ludlow, Kentucky, February 18, 1889.
4. James Helmus Bogart was born in Ludlow, Kentucky, August 26, 1891.
5. Lawrence Wilson Bogart was born in Covington, Kentucky, February 2, 1894.
6. Marine Dewey Bogart, the sixth son of C. William and Edith M. Bogart, was born in Hamilton, Ohio, January 20, 1898.

II.—Ernest Linden Steen, the second child and eldest son of Prof. W. Freeman and Emma M. Steen, was born in Xenia, Ohio, November 2, 1865. He resided with his parents until after his father's death, and afterwards in Cincinnati, Ohio. He died unmarried, in Cincinnati, Ohio, July 8, 1894, aged 28 years, 8 months and 6 days.

III.—Clarence Freeman Steen, the third child, the second and youngest son of Prof. W. Freeman and Emma M. Steen, was born in Ludlow, Kentucky, February 23, 1870. After his father's death he resided with his mother until 1890, then spent four years with his uncle, Prof. E. W. Steen, in Knoxville, Tennessee, attending school. In 1894 he returned to Cincinnati, Ohio and resided with his mother until her death, October 3, 1899. Clarence F. Steen is a bookbinder by trade. Residence, Toledo, Ohio.

2. Eli Watson Steen, the second son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen was born at the home of his parents, on Brush Creek, near the mouth of Elk Run, two miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, August 6, 1833. When a very little child he was taken by his parents to the old Freeman farm, on Scioto Brush Creek, two miles west of Blue Creek, and ten miles east of West Union, Adams County, Ohio, where his happy boyhood days were spent, attending school and assisting his father on the farm. He removed with his parents, August 31, 1848, when he was fifteen years old, to the farm his father had purchased, lying on the road from Winchester to Mt. Leigh, and about a mile from the place where he was born. He and his older brother were his father's principal assistants on the farm, which was new and required much hard labor. They worked faithfully during the summer and attended school in the winter. He was a regular attendant at the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church and Sabbath-school for many years; early gave his heart to Christ, and united with the church in 1849, and ever afterwards maintained a consistent Christian life. Like his ancestors, his father, and his brother, he delighted in music, and had a special talent for it, which was highly cultivated. When he became of age he took a thorough course in musical studies in Normal music schools in Russellville, and in Decatur, Ohio, under the direction of Prof. Dwight H. Baldwin, and became a teacher of vocal and instrumental music, in which profession he became very proficient and quite popular. He held many classes in different parts of Adams County, Ohio, sometimes having as many as three singing schools upon each secular day of the week, also leading the music in the church on the Sabbath. He had a sweet voice, was a fine singer, and to some extent a composer of music. His services were eagerly sought at musical institutes, conventions, and as an instructor in Normal music classes, in which he was very successful. After his marriage, in 1855, he located upon a farm which his father had purchased, and which he afterwards possessed, lying on the direct road from Winchester to Youngsville, about one and a half miles from the latter place, and the same distance from the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church. In the summer of 1862 he enlisted as a private soldier in the Union Army for the defense of his country, in Company E, Ninety-first Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry; was promoted to Second Sergeant, and on a few occasions commanded the company. He was stationed principally in West Virginia, and owing to failing health was honorably discharged from the service. During his absence in the army his own house was ransacked by the soldiers of John Morgan in their raid through Ohio. In the summer of 1867 he sold his farm near Youngsville and Mt. Leigh, and removed to Xenia, Ohio, where he continued to reside and follow his profession for several years; then became a traveling agent for the large music house of D. H. Baldwin & Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, being one of their most esteemed and successful salesmen. Owing to a complete failure of health he was compelled to retire from business for several years, and resided with his family in Xenia, Ohio. His health having somewhat improved, and desiring to locate in a milder climate, in May, 1880, he removed to Knoxville, Tennessee, and in connection with another gentleman opened a music house, for the sale of music and musical instruments, under the firm name of "Steen & Marshall," but in a year or two dissolved partnership and continued in business by himself alone. At Xenia, Ohio, E. Watson Steen and all his family were members of the First Presbyterian Church, and at Knoxville, Tennessee, they all united with the Third (Southern) Presbyterian Church, of which he was elected, ordained and installed a ruling elder, which office he still holds. After the death of his father, in 1881, he was made executor of his estate. In 1887 his mother came to reside in his family, where she made her home until her death, in 1895, although she made extensive visits to her daughter.

who lived in Westboro, Massachusetts, and in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Steen has acquired considerable property, and resides at his pleasant home, No. 19 Pearl Place, Knoxville, Tennessee.

Prof. E. Watson Steen was married by the Rev. James Dunlap, in West Union, Adams County, Ohio, October 25, 1855, to Miss Julia Emily Lilly Diboll, a daughter of Dr. Victor M. and Philena L. Diboll, she having been born near Sardinia, Brown County, Ohio, December 7, 1839, and died at her home, No. 19 Pearl Place, Knoxville, Tennessee, September 17, 1896, in the 57th year of her age. Mrs. Steen was a woman of social nature, strong attachments, and possessed of considerable musical and literary ability, and was the writer of several stories and unpublished poems. Her body was interred in the Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia, Ohio. To Prof. E. Watson and Julia E. L. Steen were born the following three children:

I.—Laura Alice Steen, the eldest daughter of Prof. E. Watson and Julia E. L. Steen, was born at the home of her parents, on the farm, near Youngsville and Mt. Leigh, in Adams County, Ohio, August 18, 1856, and resided with her parents, in Adams County, and in Xenia, Ohio. She early united with the First Presbyterian Church in Xenia, Ohio, of which she remained a consistent member. She received a good education in the Xenia schools. Like her father, she possessed fine musical talents, which were cultivated to a high degree, so that she became not only an accomplished singer, but an excellent teacher of instrumental music as well. Miss L. Allie Steen was a young lady of good social qualities and attractive manner, but her genial and useful career was soon cut off by that dread disease, quick consumption. She died at the home of her parents, in Xenia, Ohio, June 5, 1878, in the 22d year of her age, and in the certain hope of a blessed immortality. The funeral took place from the Presbyterian church, and her body was laid away in Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia, Ohio.

II.—Mary Estella Steen, the second daughter of Prof. E. Watson and Julia E. L. Steen, was born at the home of her parents, near Mt. Leigh and Youngsville, Adams County, Ohio, January 13, 1860, and continued to live with her parents, near Mt. Leigh, and in Xenia, Ohio, until her marriage. She early united with the First Presbyterian Church, in Xenia, and remained a consistent member. She secured a good education in the Xenia schools, and was an interesting and accomplished young lady, possessing considerable literary talent. She published several interesting original stories of high merit, one being entitled "Book Learning Versus Housekeeping." Mary E. Steen was married by her uncle, Rev. Moses D. A. Steen, at the Grand Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio, March 16, 1880, to Earnest L. Lawrence, of Xenia, Ohio. They resided in Xenia, Ohio, for about five years after marriage, where Mr. Lawrence was agent for the Xenia Powder Company. In 1885 they removed to Chicago, Illinois, where they continued to reside until her death, which took place March 19, 1890, aged 30 years, 2 months and 6 days. Her body was buried in Chicago. To Earnest L. and Mary E. Lawrence were born the following children:

- I. Mildred Lawrence was born in Xenia, Ohio, June 1, 1884.
2. Meredith Fay Lawrence was born in Chicago, Illinois, November 10, 1889.

III.—Julia Emerine Pearl Steen, the third daughter of Prof. E. Watson and Julia E. L. Steen, was born in Xenia, Ohio, August 8, 1871, and has resided with her parents in Xenia, Ohio, and Knoxville, Tennessee. She early united with the Third Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, and has ever maintained a consistent Christian life. She secured a good education, and has fine musical talents, which have been thoroughly cultivated, making her a very popular singer, as well as an excellent performer in public. She has composed and published many pieces of music which are quite meritorious. She took the first prize offered by The Atlanta Journal for the best musical composition open to musicians of several States. The Knoxville and Chattanooga papers have recently spoken of her in highest terms of praise.

The following is taken from The Atlanta Journal of August 4, 1894:

MISS JULIA PEARL STEEN.

Miss Julia Pearl Steen, of Knoxville, Tennessee, is the winner of The Journal's prize for the best musical composition. Some time ago The Journal offered a prize of twenty-five dollars in cash to the musician sending in the best production. A great many contributions from far and near were received, and in order that justice might be done, three distinguished musicians—Messrs. J. P. O'Donnelly, Fred. Wedemeyer and Marion Dunwoody—were selected to pass upon the merits of the different pieces sent in. After going over them all and testing their respective merits, the committee sent in the following award:

"ATLANTA, GEORGIA, August 1, 1894.

"To the Editor of The Journal:

"After careful examination of all the manuscripts sent to The Journal, we have awarded the prize to Miss Julia Pearl Steen, of Knoxville, Tennessee, deeming hers the most meritorious of all.

Very respectfully,

"J. P. O'DONNELLY,

"FRED. WEDEMEYER,

"MARION DUNWOODY,

"Committee."

THE SWEET SINGER.

Miss Steen is a young lady of more than ordinary attractions. She is of medium height, and has a sweet, gentle face, brightened by a pair of soulful brown eyes. Her hair is of the auburn tint, and her face is one that suggests a soul full of music. In writing of her singing, one who heard her said: "While her voice is not so strong as some, it possesses that sweet pathos and musical articulation that reaches down after a fellow's heart-strings."

A SKETCH OF HER LIFE.

Julia Pearl Steen was born in Xenia, Ohio, August 8, 1871. Both her parents were of musical family, and she was reared in an atmosphere of music. At a very early age she manifested a decided musical talent, and was allowed access to the piano. Little by little she learned to play, under her mother's direction. At the age of two years she played a little waltz. At the age of five years she composed her first piece—a simple song, to the words, "I live for those who love me." For several years she had access to the celebrated May Festivals in Cincinnati, which wonderfully delighted her. Her appreciation of complicated harmonies and fine rendition of classic music was considered at the time remarkable in one so young. When she was nine years of age her parents moved, with her, to Knoxville, Tennessee, which has since been her home. At the age of fourteen she played such selections as Gottschalk's "Last Hope"; also his "Trovatore," and Beethoven's "Pathétique," etc., pursuing her studies in Knoxville, and later in Chicago. Miss Steen has a mezzo-soprano voice, sweet but not strong. Her compositions number about twenty. Among those best known are: "A Twilight Reverie," "To Dreamland," "A Hammock Lullaby," "Sleepy Clovers," and an organ fantasia, entitled "Egyptian Lament," from the story of "Ben Hur."

Miss Steen presides at the organ of the Third Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, and is recognized as one of the leading organists of that city. She resides with her parents at their home, "Pearl Place," North Knoxville, where she pursues her studies and entertains many musical friends. In stature she is about five feet five inches, has brown eyes, an abundant suit of auburn hair, and a clean complexion, and is popular among her many friends.

THE PRIZE MUSIC.

The music written by Miss Steen accompanies the song, "The Parting," written by Miss Lois Huntington.

THE PARTING.

Darling, why that look of sadness?
 Shadows o'ercast thy lovely brow;
 In the eyes once filled with gladness
 Tears of sorrow startle now!
 True, that to-morrow I must leave thee,
 But for a little while, you see,
 I'm parting, parting,
 Only a little while from thee.

Smile once more on me, my darling!
 Dry those dear eyes now wet with tears;
 That the last look that thou giv'st me,
 Loving looks my heart to cheer;
 Thou'rt all this whole wide world to me, dear,
 Dear would it be without thy love;
 Dreary, dreary,
 Would be this world without thy love!

While we're absent from each other
 Let this sweet comfort still be thine,
 That the line of shining silver
 'Round our hearts be still entwined;
 And it will whisper to thee, darling,
 That I am coming back to thee;
 I'm coming, coming,
 That I am coming back to thee!

Julia Emerine Pearl Steen was married at Knoxville, Tennessee, on Monday, December 4, 1899, to Dr. Charles A. Garratt. Residence, Knoxville, Tennessee.

3. Samuel Martin Steen, the third son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born on the old Freeman homestead, on Scioto Brush Creek, two miles above the mouth of Blue Creek, in Adams County, Ohio, July 5, 1836. Here he lived with his parents until he was twelve years of age, going to school, and assisting his father as he was able. In 1848 he removed with the family to their new home, twenty miles distant, near the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, where he continued to work on the farm in summer and attend school in the winter, while at the same time he continued to be a regular attendant at the Mt. Leigh Church and Sabbath-school. Having secured a good common school education at Mt. Leigh, he afterwards attended the State Normal School at Lebanon, Ohio, under the direction of Prof. E. H. Holbrook, and became a teacher. S. Martin Steen was a young man of brilliant talents, a natural mathematician, delighting in difficult problems. He was also able in argument, and extremely fond of it. Often he would present a proposition to his brother, or other friend, to see which side he would take, then take the opposite side and use such strong arguments as to compel his opponent to confess himself in the wrong. Then, after taking a good laugh, he would take up the other side of the question, and convince him back again that he had been right after all, and enjoy another hearty laugh. He had the peculiar faculty of doing this without giving offense, and purely from the love of debate. He was a young man of great energy and perseverance, and had his life been spared he would probably have made his mark in the world. He taught quite successfully several terms of school, the last one being at Sandy Springs, Adams County, Ohio, near the Ohio River, which closed in June, 1859. While living at Sandy Springs he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church upon profession of faith in Christ. Here also, while engaged in teaching, he caught a very severe cold, which settled upon his lungs and soon developed into quick consumption. He died at the residence of his father, near the Mt. Leigh Church, with an assured hope of a glorious immortality, October 13, 1859, aged 23 years, 3 months and 8 days. His body was lovingly laid away to rest in the Mt. Leigh cemetery.

4. John Truman Steen, the fourth son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born on the old Freeman homestead, on Scioto Brush Creek, in Jefferson Township, Adams County, Ohio, May 18, 1838. His earliest associations were connected with the home of his mother's parents, who came from Maryland to that locality in 1797, and where his mother was born and brought up. This old homestead was located ten miles east of West Union, and about the same distance northwest of Rome, a village on the Ohio River. When a little child he went to school on Blue Creek, two and one-fourth miles away. Near the mouth of this beautiful stream there was a junction of the roads leading to Portsmouth, Rome, and West Union; also a country store, a post-office, a blacksmith shop, etc., where the principal trading and business of the locality was done. In 1848, when ten years of age, he was taken by his parents to their new home, on the farm his father had purchased, three miles from Winchester, Ohio, on the road to the Mt. Leigh Church, where he grew up to manhood. Here in the Mt. Leigh school he secured a good common school education. He afterwards attended the State Normal School at Lebanon, Ohio, under the superintendency of Prof. E. H. Holbrook, and qualified himself for a teacher, in which profession he was especially successful. He taught quite a number of schools, the last being at Harsha's Mills, about four miles from his father's home. He was exceedingly fond of music, and is said to have had the finest and most natural talent for it of any member of the family. His social qualities were also of a very high order, and hence his company was sought and enjoyed by all his acquaintances. J. Truman Steen united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church June 9, 1858, on profession of faith in Christ, and continued to be an earnest, devout, and useful Christian. While engaged in teaching at Harsha's Mills, Adams County, Ohio, he caught a severe cold, which developed into consumption. He died at the residence of his father, June 25, 1862, aged 24 years, 1 month and 7 days. He was universally beloved, and his death greatly lamented. His body was tenderly laid away to rest in the cemetery at Mt. Leigh.

5. Moses Duncan Alexander Steen, the fifth son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born at the old Freeman homestead, on Scioto Brush Creek, ten miles east of West Union, and two miles west of Blue Creek, in Adams County, Ohio, April 24, 1841. His earliest recollections were of the old home, where his mother was born and brought up — the orchard, the creek, the rocky cliffs and cedar trees, the high bridge, the sugar camp, the old church, the graveyard, and the surrounding hills. The death of his little brother, in the autumn of 1844, was never effaced from his memory. His first day at school on Blue Creek remains as a vivid picture, one brother holding each hand as they walked along until they came to Smalley's store, where they bought a "primer" full of bright pictures and proceeded to the school-house, where the teacher took him on her lap; the school exhibition the next winter, at which he recited "Twinkle, twinkle, little star," and the long Sabbath services of the Seceders at Wait's Mill, have never been forgotten. In 1848, when he was seven years old, the family removed to their new home, near the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, in which he was baptized by the Rev. James Dunlap, October 2, 1848, and grew up to manhood on his father's farm. He was a regular attendant at the Mt. Leigh Church, Sabbath-school and district school, while every Sabbath afternoon was devoted by his parents to the religious instruction of their children. Moses D. A. Steen united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church on profession of faith in Christ, June 8, 1858, and began a course of study in North Liberty Academy. He afterwards spent three years in Salem Academy, then under the direction of Rev. James A. I. Lowes, D.D.; one year in Hanover College, at Hanover, Indiana, and completed the classical course in Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, from which he was graduated, receiving the degree of B.A. June 27, 1866. He entered the United Presbyterian Theological Seminary, at Xenia, Ohio, September 1, 1886, and remained one term. He afterwards attended the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of the Northwest, at Chicago, Illinois, from which he was graduated April 1, 1869, having spent the autumn session of 1868 in Princeton Theological Seminary, at Princeton, New Jersey. He was licensed to preach the Gospel by the Old School Presbytery of Chilli-cothe, in Hillsboro, Ohio, April 8, 1868, and spent the summer vacation in preaching at Mt. Sterling and Sharpsburgh, Kentucky. Immediately after graduating from the Theological Seminary, in April, 1869, he took charge of the church at Worthington, near Columbus, Ohio, and the next year accepted an invitation to the church in Vevay, Indiana, and was ordained to the full work of the ministry in that church by the Presbytery of New Albany, September 8, 1870. In January, 1872, he accepted a call to the pastorate of the church at Solon, near Cleveland, Ohio, which, in April, 1873, he resigned to accept a call to the church at Conneautville, Pennsylvania. On Monday, June 1, 1874, a terrible conflagration swept away a large part of the village, leaving many without homes and seriously affecting the work of the church. In December of that year Mr. Steen resigned the pastorate and took charge of the church in Waterford, Erie County, Pennsylvania. In May, 1875, he accepted a call to the First Presbyterian Church of Ludlow, Kentucky, opposite Cincinnati, Ohio, where he remained six years and three months. Through his patient, faithful and persistent labors a heavy and pressing mortgage debt was removed, and the church placed upon a substantial basis of prosperity. In the summer of 1877, while in charge of this church, he made an extensive tour through Europe, traveling leisurely throughout Ireland, Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, and France, and returned to his work with renewed vigor. August 19, 1881, he resigned his charge at Ludlow, Kentucky, and accepted an invitation to the church at Pleasant Ridge, near Walnut Hills, a suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio, where he remained for a year. His wife being in feeble health at the time, they determined to seek a change of climate, and he accepted an invitation to Davisville, California, where he entered upon the work with encouraging prospects, in September, 1882, but a few months later returned to the East. In the summer of 1883 he supplied the churches of Troy and Edwardsville, Illinois, and in the fall accepted an invitation to Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Gunnison, Colorado, entering upon his work there the first Sabbath in October, 1883, and had a prosperous year. October 1, 1884, he accepted an invitation to the church at Black Hawk, Colorado, but owing to the high altitude, which affected her heart, Mrs. Steen could not live there, and by physicians' advice the next summer they came to the Pacific Coast, reaching Portland, Oregon, July 1, 1885; spent one Sabbath at Albany, Oregon; preached two months in the First Church of Tacoma, Washington, and supplied the church at Snohomish, Washington, for one year, the church doubling its membership during that time. July 1, 1886, Mr. Steen accepted an invitation to the Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge, California, to begin his labors September 1, at which time he accordingly removed to Woodbridge, California; was afterwards called to the pastorate, and still continues in charge of the church.

Moses D. A. Steen and his wife, since coming to the West, in 1883, have devoted their leisure hours in special courses of study together, and have received diplomas, or certificates of graduation, from the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle at Monterey, California, in 1889; and afterwards the Guild of the Seven Seals, which is the highest rank obtainable. They also completed the seven years' course of Bible study in the Philadelphia Bible Correspondence School, receiving their diplomas in 1890. In connection with his work in Woodbridge, California, after some months of preliminary services, Mr. Steen, on September 29, 1889, organized a church at Clements, fourteen miles east, where no church organization of any kind had before existed, and supplied it with preaching at regular intervals for several years. With a membership of only nine persons, he was instrumental in building and dedicating, without debt, on this mission field a beautiful and substantial church edifice, worth $5,000.

Moses D. A. Steen has been frequently called to conduct memorial services and act as chaplain and orator on public occasions. He has also published several sermons, essays, and contributed articles. In 1888 he was invited by the faculty to preach the annual sermon at San Joaquin Valley College, which was received with favor, and a few days later at the annual session of the Board of Trustees they conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1889 the University of Wooster, Ohio, conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, upon examination. "The Wooster Quarterly," in speaking of it, says:

The degree was conferred on thesis and examination in Course A. The examination covered the course as published in 1887, and was superintended and certified by President D. A. Mobley, of San Joaquin College, Woodbridge. It was taken in ten sittings of two hours and a half each, the questions being given out in sections, and the examination papers consisted of seventy-six large and carefully written pages. . . . Many of our readers will remember the sermon by Dr. Steen, which appeared in the Pulpit Supplement to the Quarterly. He is well known in California as an able and earnest preacher of the Word, and has been placed in honorable position by the Synod of the Pacific as a member of the Permanent Committee on Education.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. M. D. A. Steen was duly celebrated June 22, 1895, under the auspices of the King's Daughters. Many invitations had been sent out, the church profusely decorated, and as the wedding march was played the procession entered, headed by the King's Daughters and six little girls, all dressed in white, and bearing flowers. The Rev. D. A. Mobley, D.D., ex-President of S. J. V. College, performed an appropriate ceremony, and brief addresses were made by representatives of the church, the King's Daughters, several ministers and others. Congratulations, a happy reunion, and a banquet followed. Among the many greetings received was the following little poem, written for the occasion by the Rev. James S. McDonald, D.D., formerly superintendent of Home Missions in California:

Never did bells with sweeter tune
Laden the fragrant air of June,
And fill your hearts with such delight
And lure you to a path so bright,
As on the day when your new life
Began as happy man and wife.
The music of that joyful day
Has gained in sweetness all your way.

Discordant strains have never come
To mar the peace of your dear home,
Where lovers' hearts do not grow old;
Their early love will not grow cold.
There is a joy love only knows,
That you may keep till life shall close;
When all your goodness shall increase
In God's eternal home of peace.

Dr. Steen has frequently been chosen Moderator of the Presbytery with which he has been connected. From 1887 until 1893 he was Permanent Clerk, and since 1893 has been the Stated Clerk and Treasurer of the Presbytery of Stockton, which comprises a territory as large as the State of Ohio. He was chosen Commissioner to the Presbyterian General Assemblies which met in Madison, Wisconsin, in 1880; Omaha, Nebraska, in 1887, and Saratoga Springs, New York, in 1894. In 1895 he was elected by the General Assembly at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, a delegate to "General Council of Alliance of the Reformed Churches throughout the World Holding the Presbyterian System," to meet in Glasgow, Scotland, in June, 1896. On this journey he was accompanied by his wife, and after the Council they extended their visit to many places of interest in British and Continental Europe, returning to America via the Northern route, through the Gulf and River St. Lawrence, to Quebec, Montreal, the Thousand Islands, Kingston and Toronto, Canada. He has traveled quite extensively in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Including missionary work in the West with other journeys, he has visited every State and Territory in the American Union, except Alaska, and preached the Gospel in many of them; sometimes in the forest, in frontier settlements, in log cabins, and school-houses, on river and ocean steamers, among Indians, Mexicans, and all classes and conditions of people — rich and poor, learned and illiterate. Residence, Woodbridge, California.

Moses D. A. Steen was married by the Rev. William R. Parsons, at Worthington, Ohio, near Columbus, June 22, 1870, to Miss Mary Foster, a daughter of Archibald and Harriet Foster, formerly of Sugar Creek, Venango County, Pennsylvania, she having been born at Sugar Creek, Pennsylvania, July 21, 1843, and united with the Presbyterian Church at that place June 8, 1858, the same day that her husband joined the church in Ohio. She has ever been a true helpmeet to her husband in his sacred profession, cultivated, amiable, and devout. Since 1887 she has been the Stockton Presbyterial Secretary of the Woman's Occidental Board of Foreign Missions. The bride's father was a son of John Foster, who was born in County Armagh, Ireland, June 23, 1768; came to America when about twenty years of age; married Rebecca Lee in 1796, in Centre County, Pennsylvania, where they resided until 1797, when he removed to Venango County, and located upon a farm at Sugar Creek, Pennsylvania. Mary Foster's mother was a daughter of John and Isabella McQuaid, a granddaughter of William and Elizabeth Duffield, and a great-granddaughter of Philip and Jane Armstrong Duffield, who owned real estate near Ballynahinch, in County Down, Ireland. William Duffield was the eldest child and only son of Philip and Jane Armstrong Duffield, was born in Ireland about 1744, came to America in 1770, was married in Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, in 1776 to Elizabeth Hasson, by whom he had seven children. Isabella Duffield was the sixth child of William and Elizabeth Hasson Duffield, and was born in Centre County, Pennsylvania, November 15, 1790; was brought to Venango County, in 1800, was married by Abram Selders in Franklin, Pennsylvania, September 8, 1808, to John McQuaid, by whom she had six children. Harriet C. McQuaid, the second child and eldest daughter of John and Isabella Duffield McQuaid, was born in Venango County, Pennsylvania, November 5, 1811; was married by the Rev. Thomas Anderson at Sugar Creek, Pennsylvania, April 19, 1832, to Archibald Foster, he having been born at Sugar

LULU GRACE STEEN.

Creek, Pennsylvania, November 7, 1804, by whom she had twelve children, Mary Foster being the eighth child and fifth daughter. To Moses D. A. and Mary Foster Steen was born one child, as follows:

- I.*—Lulu Grace Steen was born in Conneautville, Crawford County, Pennsylvania, July 4, 1873, and died in Ludlow, Kentucky, July 3, 1876. On her third birthday her body was tenderly laid away to rest in the Woodlawn cemetery, near Xenia, Ohio. She was a general favorite, the joy of the household, a remarkably bright and interesting child, affectionate, obedient, patient, yet full of life and enthusiasm. She was intelligent beyond her years, and devotional to an eminent degree. She delighted in family worship, and often in her play would sit down and act as though she were reading, then close the book, kneel down by a chair, cover her face with her hands, and reverently say: "God bless Lulu and make her a good girl; God bless papa and make him a good man; God bless mamma and make her a good lady. Amen."
6. Josiah James Steen, the sixth son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born at the old Freeman homestead, on Scioto Brush Creek, near Blue Creek, Adams County, Ohio, February 25, 1844, and died at the same place September 8, 1844, aged 8 months and 13 days. "A sweet little bud taken from the earth to bloom in heaven."
7. Sarah Catherine Steen, called "Kate," the seventh child and only daughter of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born at the home of her parents, three miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, April 1, 1853, where her happy childhood days were spent. She attended the public school, the church, and Sabbath-school at Mt. Leigh when she was still a child. She removed with her parents to their new home, at Xenia, Ohio, in the summer of 1865, when she was twelve years of age, and in early life united with the First Presbyterian Church of that place, and of which she was a useful member. At Xenia she received a good education in the common schools, and was graduated from the High School in 1872. Like her father and elder brothers, she was possessed of unusually fine musical talents, which she delighted to cultivate and exercise; and under the continuous instruction of her brother, Prof. E. W. Steen, she soon acquired a cultivated voice, skill in execution, and became an accomplished teacher of vocal and instrumental music. In 1879 she taught music in Clarksville, Tenn. After the death of her father, in 1881, she, with her mother, removed to the center of the city of Xenia, where they lived together, and she gave music lessons to many private pupils. In 1883 she accepted the position of teacher of vocal music and voice culture in Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, but still making her home with her mother in Xenia, and traveling back and forth by rail until January 1, 1886, when they removed to Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Sarah Catherine (Kate) Steen was married by the Rev. John S. Axtell at Xenia, Ohio, December 24, 1885, to the Rev. Elijah Alfred Coil, a son of Jesse A. and Lydia Coil, he having been born May 2, 1858, and brought up on his father's farm, near Delphos, Allen County, Ohio. His mother died when he was a little child only five years old. He attended the public school in the neighborhood in which he was brought up, and secured his higher education at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio. Here, as his music teacher, he became acquainted with his future wife. The Rev. E. Alfred Coil received a call to the Christian Church in Yellow Springs, Ohio, which he accepted, entered upon his work September 1, 1885, and continued in charge for two years. September 1, 1887, he received and accepted a call to the First Unitarian Church at Westboro, Massachusetts, and continued in charge four years. He removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, September 1, 1891, and became pastor of the Unity Church of that city and remained four years. Again, September 1, 1895, he received and accepted a call to the First Unitarian Church of Marietta, Ohio, and removed with his family to that place, and still continues pastor of that church. To the Rev. E. Alfred and Kate Steen Coil have been born the following children:

- I.—Emery Wilbur Coil, the eldest child of Rev. E. Alfred and Kate Steen Coil, was born in Westboro, Massachusetts, September 28, 1888.
- II.—Harold Coil, the second child and son of Rev. E. Alfred and Kate Steen Coil, was born in Westboro, Massachusetts, May 1, 1891.
- III.—Alfreda Coil, the third child and eldest daughter of MRS. KATE STEEN COIL.

Rev. E. Alfred and Kate Steen Coil, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 15, 1892.

IV.—Marion Coil, the fourth child and third son of Rev. E. Alfred and Kate Steen Coil, was born in Marietta, Ohio, November 30, 1895.

8. Isaac Birt Steen, the eighth child and seventh son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born at the home of his parents, three miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, June 8, 1856, and died June 16, 1856, aged 8 days. The body was laid away to rest in the Mt. Leigh cemetery.

9. William Wirt Steen, the ninth child and eighth son of Aaron F. and Mary Freeman Steen, was born three miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, June 8, 1856, and died at the same place June 26, 1856, aged 18 days. The body was laid away to rest in the Mt. Leigh cemetery, by the side of his little twin brother.

IV.—Robert Wilson Steen, the fourth child and second son of Alexander and Agnes Nancy Faris Steen, was born two miles north of Flemingsburgh, Kentucky, May 24, 1809, and died suddenly of heart failure at his residence, two miles east of Winchester, Ohio, November 11, 1873, aged 64 years, 5 months and 18 days. He was brought with his parents, when they removed from Kentucky, in 1820, and located on a farm two miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio. Here he was carefully and religiously brought up, working on the farm in summer and attending school in winter. At that time Ohio was a new country, and labor of every kind had to be done without machinery, so that much hard work was necessary in clearing the fields, putting in and gathering the grain, in which he faithfully assisted his father until he grew to manhood. After he became a man he purchased a farm near his father's residence, located on Brush Creek, at the mouth of Elk Run, where he continued to reside all his life, a practical and successful farmer. R. Wilson Steen was married by John Treber, J. P., at the residence of the bride's parents, near Dunkinsville, Adams County, Ohio, September 13, 1832, to Miss Louisa Chambers, a daughter of Elijah and Ann Wilcox Chambers, formerly from near Baltimore, Maryland, she having been born near Baltimore, Maryland, April 21, 1809, and died at the residence of her son, in Washington C. H., Fayette County, Ohio, on Good Friday, April 15, 1892, in the 83d year of her age. On the following Sunday — Easter Day — her body was tenderly laid away by the side of her husband, in the Mt. Leigh cemetery. R. Wilson Steen and his wife were for many years members of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church. To them were born nine children, as follows:

1. Aaron Marshall Steen, the eldest son of R. Wilson and Louisa C. Steen, was born at the home of his parents, two miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, July 1, 1833, and died near New Market, Highland County, Ohio, February 3, 1891, aged 57 years, 7 months and 2 days. His body was laid away to rest in the Mt. Leigh cemetery.

A. Marshall Steen grew up to manhood upon his father's farm, attending school in winter, and was by occupation a farmer all his life. He resided in Adams County, Ohio, near his father's residence until 1865, when he removed to Mercer County, Illinois, and located upon a farm near Aledo, where he continued to live for several years, then settled upon his own farm near Millersburgh, in the same county, where he remained a number of years. In 1884 he returned to Ohio and resided near New Market, Highland County, until his death.

A. Marshall Steen was married by the Rev. Nathaniel Williams at the residence of the bride's parents, near Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, September 4, 1856, to Miss Mary Ellen Dunlap, a daughter of Andrew and Jemima Robey Dunlap, she having been born April 24, 1838. Her father, Andrew Dunlap, was born in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, June 10, 1796, and her mother, Jemima Robey Dunlap, was born in Monongalia County, West Virginia, December 24, 1808. Mrs. Mary E. Dunlap Steen was married a second time, August 12, 1896, to William Pinkerton, who is a brother of her brother Hiram Dunlap's wife. Residence, Viola, Illinois. To A. Marshall and Mary E. Steen were born the following eight children:

- 1.—Stephen Cary Steen, the eldest son of A. Marshall and Mary E. Steen, was born near Winchester, Ohio, August 23, 1857, and was taken by his parents to Illinois in February, 1865, and lived in Mercer County and assisted his father upon a farm until he grew up to manhood. In the summer of 1882 he removed from Illinois to Lenox, Taylor County, Iowa, where he remained one year; then to San Buena Ventura, Ventura County, California, where he resided two years. In 1885 he removed to Colfax, Whitman County, Washington, where for three years he kept a livery stable, and since that time has followed the occupation of a farmer. S. Cary Steen was married by the Rev. G. M. Tuttle, in Winfield, Henry County, Iowa, February 9, 1882, to Miss Justine Melvina Hale, a daughter of James Porter and Louisa Mariah Hale, she having been born in Winfield, Iowa, March 15, 1858. Residence, Colfax, Whitman County, Washington. To S. Cary and Justine M. Steen were born the following children:

It was located four miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, and less than a mile north of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church. At this place he died, after a lingering illness, January 20, 1882, aged 68 years, 3 months and 15 days. In early life he united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, and was ever afterwards an active and exemplary Christian man. He was ordained and installed a ruling elder of this church October 9, 1847, which office he continued to hold until his death, always enjoying the fraternal confidence and affection of his brethren. He was a man of sweet disposition, gentle manners and unselfish nature—a bright example of the reality and power of the religion which he professed. He died as he had lived, in the full hope of a blessed immortality, and longing to be "with Christ, which is far better." He brought up his family in the fear of the Lord, and all were brought into full membership of the same church with himself. John W. Steen was married by the Rev. John Graham, at the residence of the bride's parents, on Buck Run Adams County, Ohio, June 3, 1841, to Miss Nancy Ewing Campbell, a daughter of James and Elizabeth Campbell, she having been

8. Margaret Catherine Steen, called "Maggie," the eighth child and seventh daughter of John W. and Nancy E. His body was lovingly laid away to rest the next day, in the cemetery at Mt. Leigh, near which place he had resided for almost seventy-five years. He was brought by his parents into Ohio in 1820, and ever afterwards lived in the vicinity of his father's first settlement in Ohio, three miles east of Winchester, as a practical and successful farmer. Alexander B. Steen was a child of the covenant, and descended from a long line of staunch Scotch-Irish Presbyterian ancestors, who had endured persecutions and suffered imprisonment for the sake of their religious faith. He was a most saintly man, "greatly beloved" by all who knew him, and his gentleness of manner, sweet devotion, and absorbing zeal reminded one of our ideal good old Apostle John. He occupied comparatively an humble sphere, and was very unpretentious, but no man in all that region of country exerted a wider religious influence than he. In private conversation his spiritual insight and heavenly-mindedness was a real uplift to the soul. His faith in God's Word was unbounded, and the divine promises were living realities. He was no mere idle dreamer, thinking only of the future glory, but insisted upon the faithful performance of the practical duties of to-day. He was not a learned man, but yet was more familiar with the English Bible than many professors of theology; and would quote from memory the chapter and verse to substantiate his position on any subject of conversation. "It says" was a satisfactory answer to him on any subject, and an end to all controversy. He was frequently called to positions in the church, but always humbly declined, thinking he could serve God more acceptably in a private station. By a fall some years before his death he was severely injured in the hips, which largely confined him to the house. This he afterwards spoke of as a special blessing of providence, inasmuch as it gave him a better opportunity to study the Scriptures. He brought up his family of eight children in the fear of the Lord, and it was his privilege and great joy to see them all brought into the Christian fold, members of the same church with which he was connected for more than fifty years. Three of his brothers and four of his sons have been ruling elders in the Presbyterian Church. Alexander B. Steen was married by the Rev. Robert Steward, near Harshasville, Adams County, Ohio, to Miss Nancy Jane McClure, a daughter of Michael and Elizabeth McClure, she having been born in Hillsboro, Highland County, Ohio, September 11, 1821, and died March 18, 1893, aged 71 years, 5 months and 7 days. To Alexander B. and Nancy J. Steen were born the following children:

1. Mary Jane Steen, the eldest child and only daughter of Alexander B. and Nancy J. Steen, was born on the old Grandfather Steen homestead, near the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, in Adams County, Ohio, February 26, 1839, where she spent her childhood and attended school. She early united with the Mt. Leigh Church and grew up to be a young lady of winning manners, kindly heart, devout spirit and intelligent interest in everything good. She died at the home of her parents, on Brush Creek, about four miles north-east of Winchester, Ohio, January 27, 1857, aged 17 years, 10 months and 25 days, much beloved by those who knew her.

He enlisted in the army at Winchester, Ohio, August 1, 1862, in Company I, Ninety-first Regiment Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and served his country faithfully until the close of the war, when he was honorably discharged. After the war he studied dentistry under Dr. John N. McClung, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and practiced his profession with good success in North Liberty, Ohio, until November 13, 1875, when he removed to Ripley, Ohio, where he still carries on an extensive and profitable business. Here he united with the First Presbyterian Church, of which he is a useful and influential member. He is a genial, kind-hearted man, always has a pleasant word for every one, is widely known, and wins hosts of friends wherever he goes. Dr. John A. Steen was married by the Rev. James R. Gibson, at the residence of the bride's parents, near Eckmansville, Adams County, Ohio, December 29, 1869, to Miss Jennie M. Reighley, a daughter of Henry and Nancy G. Ramsey Reighley, she having been born at Siglersville, Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, October 16, 1844, and died in their pleasant home in Ripley, Ohio, January 3, 1895, aged 50 years, 2 months and 18 days. She was a most amiable, devout and useful woman, in the family, the church, and community, and brought up her children in the fear of the Lord. Dr. John A. Steen was married a second time in Manchester, Ohio, March 17, 1897, to Miss Sarah Lawwill, a daughter of John business, he entered the Louisville College of Dentistry, at Louisville, Kentucky, spent one term, and was graduated therefrom June 14, 1887. Dr. Marion W. Steen is now a ruling elder and an influential member of the First Presbyterian Church in Augusta, Kentucky. He was married by the Rev. John N. McClung, at the residence of the bride's parents, near North Liberty, Adams County, Ohio, to Miss Sarah Emma Patton, a daughter of John Elder and Sarah Ann Patton, she having been born near North Liberty, Ohio, (Cherry Fork Post-office,) July 16, 1857. Residence, Augusta, Kentucky. To them were born the following children:

I.—Charles Guy Steen, the eldest son of Dr. Marion W. and S. Emma Steen, was born in North Liberty, Adams County, Ohio, April 7, 1877, and brought up in his father's family. He was educated in Central University, Richmond, Kentucky, and was graduated from the Ohio Dental College, Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1899. He has opened a dental office in Ashland, Kentucky, and is doing a good business. Residence, Ashland, Kentucky.

II.—Wilbur Armstrong Steen, the second son of Dr. Marion W. and S. Emma Steen, was born in Augusta, Kentucky, November 11, 1892, and resides there with his parents.

VIII.—Josiah Yates Steen, the eighth child, the fifth and youngest son of Alexander and Agnes Nancy Faris Steen, was born on a farm at the home of his parents, two miles north of Flemingsburgh, Fleming County, Kentucky, February 14, 1816, and died, after a brief but severe attack of pneumonia, at his own residence, upon his farm, two miles northwest of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, and three miles east of Winchester, Adams County, Ohio, January 19, 1877, aged 60 years, 11 months and 5 days. He was brought by his parents from Kentucky to Adams County, Ohio, when a child of four years. Here he grew up to manhood, working upon his father's farm in summer and attending school in winter, and thus secured the ordinary common school education of the times. Like his father and eldest brother, he was exceedingly fond of music, devoted much time and attention to it, became quite skilled in the art, and like them taught many music classes during the winter months, while at the same time he was a practical and successful farmer all his life. In those early days all men between the ages of 21 and 45 years were required by law to form military companies in township and county organizations, and at the appointed times assemble and exercise in military tactics. An annual general muster of all the companies in the county was held for drill, parade, and often sham battles were fought. In these matters Josiah Y. Steen became somewhat prominent, was chosen Lieutenant, and afterwards Captain, Major, and finally rose to Lieutenant Colonel of the county militia. Hence he afterwards bore the title of Colonel Steen. He early united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, and was ordained a ruling elder in 1851, which office he continued to hold with great acceptance until the time of his death, a period of about twenty-six years. He was a man of great activity and energy, firm in his convictions, and a strong advocate of anti-slavery sentiments long before the Civil War. Col. Josiah Y. Steen was married by the Rev. Samuel Steeie, D.D., in Highland County, Ohio, at the residence of the bride's parents, near Marshall, November 9, 1837, to Rebecca Colter Weare, a daughter of James C. and Nellie Colter Weare, she having been born in Highland County, Ohio, November 28, 1817, and died at the residence of her son-in-law, John T. Beveridge, six miles northeast of Winchester, Ohio, November 2, 1895, aged 77 years, 11 months and 4 days. To Col. Josiah Y. and Rebecca C. Steen were born the following children:

1. Eliza Ellen Steen, the eldest daughter of Col. Josiah Y. and Rebecca C. Steen, was born at the home of her parents, near the forks of Brush Creek, three and a half miles east of Winchester, Ohio, and two miles northwest of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, March 10, 1843. She possessed a kind heart, pleasing manners, and fine social qualities, which made her a general favorite. She early united with the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, and has maintained an earnest and devout spirit, exerting a wide religious influence. Eliza E. Steen was married by the Rev. Victor M. King, at the residence of her parents, December 30, 1862, to John Thomas Beveridge, a son of Samuel R. and Harriet C. Beveridge, he having been born on his father's farm, six miles northeast of Winchester, Ohio, near the Calvary M. P. Church, April 3, 1839. In his earlier life Mr. Beveridge followed the profession of a school teacher, but for many years he has been a successful and prosperous farmer. He now resides upon his own farm, near Calvary Methodist Protestant Church, six miles from Winchester, Ohio. He is a useful Christian man, and with his wife is regularly at the services of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church. His post-office address is Buck Run, Adams County, Ohio. To them were born the following children:

I.—Charles William Beveridge, the eldest son of John T. and Eliza E. Steen Beveridge, was born near Sugar Tree Ridge, Highland County, Ohio, April 3, 1864, and brought up in the home of his parents. Having secured a good common school education, he afterwards attended the National Normal School at Lebanon, Ohio, and qualified himself for the profession of a teacher, in which, during his life, he was quite successful. Charles W. Beveridge early became a member of the Mt. Leigh Presbyterian Church, was a young man of sweet disposition, devout piety, and exerted a good influence. He died at the residence of his parents, near the Calvary M. P. Church, July 20, 1888, in the 25th year of his age.

II.—John Harrie Beveridge, the second and youngest son of John T. and Eliza E. Steen Beveridge, was born near Sugar Tree Ridge, Highland County, Ohio, January 21, 1869, and brought up on the farm. Under his father's care he secured a good common school education, and taught in various district schools. He afterwards attended the Business College, at Delaware, Ohio, from which he was graduated September 25, 1889, then entered the National Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio, and was graduated from the scientific course, March 25, 1892. The following summer he aided in conducting a summer school in Hillsboro, Ohio, and while there was elected superintendent of the public schools at Glidden, Iowa, where he continued three years with good success and increase of salary each year. In 1895 he secured a certificate from the Iowa State Board of Examiners with an average grade of 95 per cent. In the autumn of 1895 he entered the Junior Class in Ohio University, from which he was graduated June 16, 1897. BOOK TWO.

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES STEEN.

James Steen was born in Ireland, probably near a place called "The Vow," in County Antrim, Province of Ulster, about 1734, and came into the British Colonies in America about 1755. He finally settled in Union District, South Carolina, where he married a Miss Bogard and brought up his family. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and was killed in the battle of King's Mountain, October 7, 1780.

James Steen was of Scotch-Irish descent, but was born in Ireland, and with the multitude of immigrants came into the British Colonies in America near the middle of the Eighteenth Century, along with his brothers, and perhaps his father's family. They landed in New York, but soon afterwards made their way into Pennsylvania, where they all continued to reside for a while. James Steen was probably a son of Richard Steen (?), whose ancestors came into Ireland with Oliver Cromwell, about 1649, and settled first in Kalinski, County Down, and afterwards located in County Antrim, where they had lived for several generations. They probably lived on the old "Green Hill farm," near a place called "The Vow," which is located about eight Irish miles from Coleraine, near the banks of the River Bann, in County Antrim, and Province of Ulster. The writer visited the place in 1896 and found there an old lady whose mother was a Steen, and her son, John Steen Martin, who now cultivates the old farm. There is an old cemetery near the river, and an old mill site, a few old houses, and a school, which we visited, but there is no post-office. In the cemetery there is the grave of John Steen, who was born in 1755 and died February 14, 1818, and Catherine Steen, his wife, who was born in 1749 and died November 9, 1829, aged 80 years. The following familiar names also appear on tombstones at that place: John Boyd, died January 2, 1859; Elizabeth Boyd, died April 14, 1862, aged 67 years, and several others of the same name, who were probably from the same ancestral family as Elizabeth Boyd, who married Robert Steen and brought up her family in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. James Steen was born in Ireland about 1734 (?), came to America with his brothers, other relatives and perhaps his father's family about 1755 (?). After a temporary residence in Pennsylvania he removed to the South, and located permanently in Union District, South Carolina. He was a man of great energy, a staunch Presbyterian in faith, and an enthusiastic patriot. At the breaking out of the Revolutionary War he joined the Colonial Army as a soldier, and was killed in the battle of King's Mountain, October 7, 1780, while fighting bravely in defense of his country. The writer remembers that when he was a mere child he heard his father tell about his grandfather Robert Steen's brother, who went into South Carolina and became a soldier in the Revolutionary War. There is no good reason to doubt that Robert Steen, of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, and James Steen, of Union District, South Carolina, were full brothers. James Steen was married in South Carolina to a Miss Bogard, about 1770, by whom he became the paternal ancestor of a large branch of the Steen family residing in the Southern States. To James Steen and his wife were born the following children: Richard, Sarah, James (?), and William Steen (?).

CHAPTER II.

Sarah Steen was a daughter of the James Steen who came from Ireland, located in Union District, South Carolina, entered the Colonial Army and was killed in the battle of King's Mountain, October 7, 1780. She was born in Union District, South Carolina, about December, 1773, in which locality she was brought up and resided until her death, which took place December 23, 1851, aged about 78 years. She possessed considerable property, and was married, about 1794, to a gentleman whose name is not certainly known, the record having been lost. He was probably a first or second cousin, bearing the name of Steen. It is certainly known that after her marriage she retained the name of Steen; that her husband had the full charge of her affairs, and that her children all bore the name of Steen. To them were born the following six children:

I.—Gideon Steen, the eldest son of — and Sarah Steen, was born near Unionville, Union District, South Carolina, March 5, 1796, and died on his own estate, near Santuck, Union County, South Carolina, March 26, 1855, in the 60th year of his age. His boyhood days were spent upon the farm, where he rapidly developed his mind, as well as his body. His school advantages were limited, but his handsome appearance, industry, energy, manly character and graceful manners rendered him quite a general favorite. He was married near Union C. H., Union County, South Carolina, November 10, 1813, to Naomi Townsend, a beautiful and accomplished young lady. Not long after their marriage they removed to the Indiana Territory, expecting to make that their future home, but the failure of his wife's health soon caused him to return with her to his old home, in his native State, where they continued to live happily and prosperously until her death, May 13, 1851. With his noted energy and industry, Gideon Steen rapidly accumulated property, and became one of the largest land owners and slave-holders in the district. He brought up a large family of children, and as soon as they married off he settled upon them each one valuable lands and several slaves. He had no political aspirations, but took great interest in the organized militia, and was the Colonel of a regiment for many years. He is reported to have been a model Christian man, a pillar in the Presbyterian Church, a philanthropist, universally respected and honored for his sterling worth. V.—James Pleasant Gossett, the fifth child and second son of Pleasant T. and Elizabeth Steen Gossett, was born September 23, 1860. He is now a prosperous merchant and business man, residing in Williamston, South Carolina, and a member of the Board of Directors of Williamston Female College. He has recently built himself an elegant home in Williamston. The following sketch was written by Professor John G. Clinkscales, of Clemson College, South Carolina, December 14, 1891:

James P. Gossett was born in Rich Hill, Spartansburgh County, South Carolina, September 23, 1860. In 1863 he had the great misfortune to lose his mother, and in 1870 his father died. The orphan boy lived among relatives in Spartansburgh County until he was fifteen years old, when he started out in the world poor and uneducated, to battle for himself. No boy ever had gloomier prospects, but it is just to young Gossett to say that no boy battled harder for success than he. At the end of three years he saved $100. He was poor, but proud and ambitious, and determined to put that $100 where it would yield the largest dividend. The youth was thoughtful, affable and bright, and had seen enough of the world to convince him that a man without an education must expect a rough time of it in this world. So he determined without hesitation to put his first earnings into his head. He bought his own provisions and hired his cooking done. With this start he began the work of educating himself, matriculating in the Pacolet High School, then under the management of Prof. L. B. Haynes. Renting a few acres of land, young Gossett put every spare moment into his cotton patch, and by sheer force of will and indomitable energy he succeeded in supplementing his original $100. Thus he went on for three years, overcoming every difficulty and removing every obstacle, at the same time winning the confidence and admiration of his neighbors and associates. The writer of this sketch was one of young Gossett's last teachers. It gives him peculiar pleasure to testify to the dauntless courage and unmistakable manhood of the boy who was not born to down, but who struck the world squarely in the face, until abundant success has crowned his efforts. I stand with hat off in the presence of the man who knows no defeat, but whom a high sense of honor and unflinching courage led on to "confidence and competence," two things to be desired by all noble-minded men. At the end of three years young Gossett applied to the County Examining Board of Spartansburgh County for a license to teach. He won a first-grade certificate and taught a school three months, to the entire satisfaction of patrons and school authorities. At the end of that time he accepted a clerkship in the store of Rogers & Clinkscals, at Williamston, Anderson County, South Carolina. Here he soon became very popular as a salesman and as a young man of sterling worth. After two years he obtained a better position and better salary at Greenville, South Carolina, in the wholesale and retail hardware establishment of Wilkins, Poe & Co. In this larger field young Gossett soon made for himself an enviable reputation. Step by step he arose in the mercantile world, until he is the owner of a large and successful shoestore in Anderson, South Carolina, and traveling agent, or salesman, for the Bay State Shoe and Leather Company, of New York, one of the largest establishments of the kind in the Union. Mr. Gossett now commands a fine salary, has accumulated considerable property, and is a popular and prominent citizen. While at Williamston he met and wed Miss Sallie Brown, eldest daughter of Dr. B. F. Brown, the leading physician of that town. The Browns are ranked among the first families in the up-country, and Miss Sallie, the accomplished young lady whose hand Mr. Gossett won, holds two diplomas from the Williamston Female College, the first female college in the State in point of scholarship and general excellence. Besides fighting his own battles successfully, Mr. Gossett has helped his younger brothers up the ascent of life's hill. In the midst of his prosperity he is never unmindful of the interests of those whom he loves, or of any young man struggling hard against the tide of life.

James P. Gossett was married in Williamston, South Carolina, November 20, 1883, to Miss Sallie A. Brown, a daughter of Dr. B. F. Brown. To them have been born the following seven children. Residence, "The Oaks," Williamston, South Carolina.

BOOK THREE.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM STEEN.

William Steen was born in Ireland about 1738, came to the British Colonies in America, and after a time located in Union District, South Carolina. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and was wounded in the battle of King's Mountain, October 7, 1780. He was married about 1772 to Nancy Lusk, and brought up a family of eleven children in Union District, South Carolina.

William Steen was born in Ireland and came to the British Colonies in America near the middle of the eighteenth century, and eventually located in South Carolina, near the Great Broad River. He was a farmer by occupation, a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and was wounded and taken prisoner in the battle of King's Mountain, October 7, 1780. He was soon afterwards rescued from the British by a band of American soldiers, among whom was Jacob Neely, whose granddaughter, Margaret Ann Neely, afterwards married his grandson, Carroll Jeffries Steen, in Rankin County, Mississippi. The following report was sent to the writer by one of his descendants. When William Steen was wounded, his wife and three children were in a fort for safety, sixty miles away. One of the children had just died, and at that time lay a corpse. As soon as Mrs. Steen heard of the calamity she procured a horse, and leaving her dead child with her friends, proceeded at once in great haste to her husband. It was late in the afternoon, and she had to travel all alone along the dreary road that sad and gloomy night, and did not reach his side till after daylight the next morning. This brave and heroic act shines in the family until this day as characteristic of them. They are not only politically but religiously enthusiastic and patriotic. Mrs. Steen was a very energetic and intelligent woman, and lived to be eighty-eight years of age. She used to relate to her grandchildren many interesting accounts of the trials and hardships of those early struggles and conflicts during the Revolutionary War. One of her grandchildren writes: "She was as true a Christian as the world affords." Several years after the close of the Revolutionary War William Steen started to remove with his family from South Carolina to Mississippi, stopping for a time in Carroll County, Tennessee, where he was taken sick and died. Not long after his death his wife and all her children, except three, resumed their journey and went on to Lawrence County, Mississippi, where they afterwards resided. After their father's death John Steen returned to South Carolina, Sarah Steen married Thompson Enochs and remained in Tennessee, and Jane Steen married Levi Noble and removed to Texas. Five of the children of William Steen were among the early settlers and influential citizens of Rankin County, Mississippi. All were farmers, and brought up large families. One son located in Holmes County, Mississippi, and another near Hazlehurst, Copiah County, Mississippi. This large family of William Steen has left a numerous posterity. One of the grandsons writes concerning his own family as follows: "We have ten children, and thirty-seven grandchildren. My father had cousins in Alabama. There is a large number of Steens in Chickasaw County, Mississippi, and a number of Steens were in Knox County, Indiana, fifty years ago. cousins to my father. I think it would be a difficult task to count the descendants of the original Steens who came into this country from Ireland. I am almost inclined to think that they are like the descendants of Abraham for multitude. They are also remarkable for strong constitutions. I have never heard of a consumptive or dyspeptic one. I think we should justly be proud of the name of Steen. I have never known one who failed to pay his honest debts. They are remarkable for reverence, hospitality, charity, and industry; and among this large number I have never known or heard a breath of suspicion in regard to their moral character."

Captain Isaac V. Enochs, of Terry, Mississippi, another grandson of William Steen, in 1893, wrote as follows: "I have some reputation for an extraordinary memory. I certainly feel surprised at the distinctness with which memory photographs my old grandmother, as she and my mother coddled together over their domestic work, and grandmother, with her quaint Gaelic expressions and brogue, recounted to my mother the history that I now see reached back into the centuries. I can even see myself as I lay around with my heels up and drank down the curiosity — feeling such stimulating draughts — as she told of the Trans-Atlantic history of her old uncles, and great-uncles and aunts. As I remember, the Steens and Lusks were pure Orange Irish and Presbyterians, while their English cousins, the Hayes, were Welsh. My Grandfather Steen was wealthy when he was married. I have often seen a little unique trunk, or strong box, covered with ox hide, holding something over a gallon, which he placed in his wife's keeping, filled with English guineas, but the old stronghold impressed my young imagination with the 'what might have been.' When the Revolutionary War had closed, and grandpa was dead, his property was reduced to the ownership of one negro woman 'Milly,' which grandfather had purchased in my mother's name, the evening after he had accidentally clipped off the fingers of her right hand with a broad-axe. And just here hangs an example of Irish generosity, in this, that this woman and her progeny were passed back into the estate. Thus it happened that the number of her children corresponded with the number of grandma's children, so that each had a negro to begin life with, and they all, except Uncle Thompson and Aunt Sallie Enochs, afterwards became thrifty slave-owners. A history of the Steens without their connection with the Enochs would be like a three-wheeled wagon. The old families were related through the Hays, or Hayes. I am not sure about the orthography. My Grandmother Steen's mother was a Hays. My Grandmother Enochs' mother was a Hays, she and grandfather being related, I don't know how, through the Hays. It is the General Jackson Hays. Gen. Harry Hays, of New Orleans, and his still more celebrated brother, Jack Hays, who killed on the streets of San Francisco its then marshal, were grandsons of my grandmother's brother. This was the connecting link between the old Steens and Enochs, or Enos, as it was in old German, or more recent English history. My great-grandfather, Enoch Gabriel Enos, was a round-headed Welshman, and a follower of Cromwell. He made himself too conspicuous — a well-known family trait. And right here let me compare the distinguishing characteristics of the connecting families. The Enochs are willful, aggressive, while the Steens are won'tful, cautiously stubborn. It has been said of your correspondent that he has all the aggressiveness of the Enochs and the stubbornness of the Steens, minus their caution. In the decapitation of Charles II., and after the fall of his great leader, my grandfather, Gabriel Enochs, smuggled his way with the Hays (who were British sailors) across the Atlantic and hid himself away in the mountains of Southwest Virginia and North Carolina till the Revolutionary War was well under way. My grandfather and grandmother Steen came from Ireland, and lived near the line of North and South Carolina. Thither my great-grandfather went when he dared, and the two related families were raised up together. And when the young State of Tennessee began to come into notice, both families migrated thither, except the eldest son of each, and were raised up in the shadow of the Hermitage, each feeling proud of the blood of its hero and central figure. I remember with zest the accounts my father and uncles used to give of their fun with the Crocketts, and the pride they had in the denouement of the only break that ever existed in a lifelong relation between the Crocketts and our family. There were so many more of our folks than of the Crocketts, the whole trouble was to be settled by Uncle Thompson Enochs and David Crockett knocking it out in a single fight; but when 'Bili' Crockett saw that Uncle Thompson was getting the best of it, he brought on an additional scrimmage with my father. Of course, they used to tell us the Crocketts got the worst of it. I have never heard the Crockett version of the affair. This I know, however, that the old men shed sincere tears when David Crockett fell at the Alamo. When grandpa had been gone to the war nearly two years, getting a furlough to return, he was shot through the body when within two miles of home. The Tory neighbors, knowing the sorrow that was already in that home, placed him upon a litter and took him to his already distressed family. 'Polly' was dead and laid upon the cooling board. 'Can a mother forget her offspring?' I have heard grandmother say: 'Yes, when I saw the greater sorrow, it was now 4 P.M. — I caught up Polly's body and laid it upon a clothes shelf in the back room. The next morning, at 9 o'clock, I wanted clothes that were upon that shelf, and found my dead child that I had forgotten till then.' Grandpa survived the wounds, but was never well. Grandma kept as a memento — and I have seen the red bandanna kerchief that she and her Tory neighbors, without a doctor, drew through his body, in accordance with the vulgar idea of the surgery of that period. Silas Steen, the youngest son, died in 1857, aged about 56 years, which would indicate that grandpa lived into the present century." Captain Enochs concludes a communication of many pages as follows: "One more morsel I will give you in pride, and I can say just pride. Five weeks ago I spent a Sunday and night with my afflicted double cousin, Carroll J. Steen, who has recently lost the wife of his youth. 'Cousin Isaac,' said he, 'I regard our family, taken as a whole, as a wonder. You and I can trace them over a century, count them by name by the hundreds, and yet not one of them ever came in contact with the laws of his country for a mean thing. No woman ever failed to make a good wife, and not a breath of suspicion ever marred her good name; and while none have reached extraordinary wealth, all have been good livers.' But you are tired; so is my hand.

"Terry, Mississippi.

CHAPTER IV.

Sarah Steen, called "Sallie," a daughter of William and Nancy Lusk Steen, was born near the Great Broad River, in South Carolina, in 1783, and removed with her parents to Tennessee when that young State began to come into prominence. She was married in Tennessee to Thompson Enochs, a son of Enoch and Lydia Enochs, and continued to reside in Carroll County, Tennessee. Sarah Steen Enochs was the mother of twelve children, and has left a numerous posterity. One of her children was Miles Enochs, who married and had one child, named Francis Enochs, who never married, and died in 1867, worth over $120,000. Edgar Enochs, who lives in Benela, Calhoun County, Mississippi, strongly resembles the old Steen family. He was a Mexican War veteran, was for many years the sheriff of that county; was twice a member of the Mississippi Legislature; was a Major in the Fourth Mississippi Regiment in the Civil War, and has a large family. Two sons of Sarah Steen Enochs still reside in Carroll County, Tennessee — Gabriel and Isaac Enochs; and one son of the latter, Dr. William Enochs, is a popular physician in Jackson, Tennessee.

CHAPTER V.

Nathaniel Steen, son of William and Nancy Lusk Steen, was born in South Carolina, near the Great Broad River, about 1786. He was married and removed from Lawrence to Madison County, Mississippi, where he died. He had two sons, and at last accounts a granddaughter of his, Mrs. Ella McWright, was living at Glenmora, Louisiana.

I.—Thomas Jefferson Steen, a son of Nathaniel Steen, and a grandson of William and Nancy Lusk Steen, was born and lived in Mississippi. During the Civil War he became a Major General in the Western Division of the Confederate Army.

The old people used to say that when he was a boy, no more three breakneck boys ever lived than he and his two cousins, William C. Enochs and Levi Noble, who also became a Major General in the Trans-Mississippi Department of the Western Army of the Confederate States. There was no form of breakneck fun that these boys would not undertake. Captain Enochs writes as follows:

"Imagine Uncle Robert's butting ram, well trained by them! Sunday morning comes; lots are cast as to who shall have the post of honor, when the ram is to get the worst of it. My mother's rice pot is stolen out of the kitchen for a helmet, and the trap is set for his royal sheepship, who is cautiously driven into the snare. The fortunate champion is squatted on all fours, with the pot well wadded with moss, where it pressed upon the hero's shoulders. The plot thickens, and the propitious moment comes. Ram-y sees something worth butting. Bim!! Aunt Polly's rice pot is in a hundred pieces, and a limber champion in the lane; but his head was too hard for the pot, or the ram's horns. Life comes back into him, and two wars since then have found him in the thickest of the fight, and nine years have been added to his allotted time."

II.—Nathan Steen, a son of Nathaniel Steen, was born and brought up in Mississippi, and was said to have been killed by a negro.

The family then removed to Macon City, Missouri, from which place father went to Pike's Peak, remaining two years and six months. During this time the Civil War broke out, and mother removed with the family to Adams County, Illinois, where we all remained until father returned to us, in 1861. We continued at this place until the spring of 1863, when father and mother thought best to return to California again, which we did. We started April 28, 1863, going overland. We had to use horses and wagons, and father had selected the very best that could be had. We drove to Keokuk, Iowa; the roads being muddy, we shipped to Eddyville, and then drove over to Omaha, where we organized into a train numbering twenty-six wagons. Father was appointed Captain of the train, and we traveled up the North Platte River for nine hundred miles. We had many adventures, too numerous to mention, but there was one incident which I will relate. At Horse Shoe Bend, on the Platte River, we were attacked by the Sioux Indians, who succeeded in capturing our horses, leaving only one horse in the entire train. Fortunately for father, he was traveling with a train of ox teams, and had extra yokes and bows, so that we were able to get started again, and finally reached Uncle Wells Phillips, who lived four miles from the summit, where we stopped for a while and rested up. We then went on to Sacramento, California, where we remained two years, and returned to the States by way of the Isthmus of Panama, thence to New York, and from there to Mercer County, Pennsylvania, where Brother John S. Mitchell and family lived, and near the place where father and mother were brought up and married. From that place father and mother, brother Dan and sister Mary went West to Illinois, leaving brother George and myself in Mercer County, Pennsylvania, where George was married. Soon after his marriage I also went West, to where father and mother were. Not long afterwards I went over into Lewis County, Missouri, where I remained for some time, forming quite a number of new acquaintances, among whom I was enabled to select a most worthy and lovable wife, and a new era was begun in my life. In 1887, at the age of forty years, I was licensed to preach in the M. E. Church (South), in Knox County, Missouri. In the fall of 1893 I was transferred to the Indians Mission Conference; naving a justifiable cause, I withdrew from this Conference and joined the Congregational Church. I am now a licensed minister in the Southeast Association of the Congregational Church, and have three appointments. I am living on my farm, eight miles west of Oklahoma City, in what is called the wheat belt, and the wheat is looking well at this writing. We have had fourteen children, thirteen of whom are still living — eight boys and five girls; twelve were born in Missouri and the two last in Oklahoma Territory. We have two children married, but no grandchildren.

I am yours,

BOOK FIVE.

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES STEEN.

James Steen was born in Ireland about 1730, was married to Rachel Moore, about 1751, and lived near a place called "The Vow," in County Antrim, Ireland, about eight Irish miles from Coleraine, and near the River Bann. They brought up a family of several children, most of whom emigrated to America.

James Steen was born in the north of Ireland, about 1730, and was married about 1751 to Rachel Moore, of Moore's Lodge, and lived near a place called "The Vow," eight Irish miles from Coleraine, near the bank of the River Bann, in County Antrim, Province of Ulster, Ireland, where he brought up his family. James Steen was a man of sterling integrity of character, was true to his principles, and faithful in his adherence to the doctrines and practices of his ancestors. A grandson, who was named for him, sends the following message to the writer of this record: "Preach Christ and him crucified to the Bethel people under your charge, never forgetting Christ's crown and covenant, your beautiful ancestral family pride. They bowed to no being but their God, and never turned the back to the foe — at Derry, Aughrim, the Boyne, or in defense of William's Liberating Army under Derry's Walls. I suppose you want to make a family trée, and I must say so, you need not be ashamed of it. Geneva, Calvin, the French reformer—then we fall back on Scotland, then Ulster in A. D. 1707.” To James and Rachel Moore Steen were born several children, near “The Vow.”

CHAPTER I.

Richard Steen, the eldest son of James and Rachel Moore Steen, was born on the old “Green Hill” farm, near “The Vow,” about 1753. He was married to Flora Shields, who died in early life. He was for many years a merchant tailor in Glasgow, Scotland, and for forty years an elder in the Presbyterian Church. He removed to Iowa, U. S. A., in 1875, and afterwards lived with his son, James E. Steen, in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. He was married in Donagh Cloney, County Down, Ireland, July 8, 1832, to Sarah McHartney, she having been born in Liverpool, England, November 5, 1812, and died at the residence of her son, in Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, February 5, 1895, aged 82 years and 3 months. To them were born fourteen children, only five of whom lived to maturity, as follows:

He escaped on a small schooner to Valparaiso, went aboard a British warship called "The Ganges," and joined the naval service for three years. In 1862, with his honorable discharge in his pocket, he arrived home in Glasgow. He afterwards attended the Glasgow University, and went into business. In 1874 he came to New York, and from 1877 to 1879 he edited a newspaper in Iowa, then went to Chicago and was employed in a grain commission house. There, at Tinkle Creek, Mr. Gill faithfully preached Christ to the people, and there their bodies now rest in the grave. Mr. Gill died April 26, 1846. Mrs. Rachel M. Steen Gill survived her husband for many years, and died in Allegheny City, Pennsylvania, about 1874, in the 91st year of her age. She used to tell with true ancestral pride how her great-great-grandfather Steen was imprisoned in the "Bass Rock" for his religious faith (a place of historic fame as the prison house of the Covenanters in the cruel reign of Charles II.), and how he was married on the day of his release to an excellent Christian woman, as consecrated and devout as himself. CHAPTER V.

The record of Enoch Steen and his descendants is inserted here, although the writer is at a loss to know just where it ought to be placed.

Enoch Steen, a son of William Steen, was born on his father's farm, near Harrodsburgh, Kentucky, February 22, 1800, and died in Kansas City, Missouri, January 22, 1880, in the 80th year of his age. Enoch Steen served as a soldier and officer in the United States Army for a period of about forty-eight years, i. e., from 1832 until his death, in 1880. When the Civil War broke out he was Colonel, commanding the fort at Walla Walla, Washington Territory. There is a mountain in Idaho called "Steen's Mountain," named after him in consequence of a severe battle he fought at that place with the Snake Indians, in 1858 or 1859. He was retired from active service in the United States Army, about 1868, as Lieutenant Colonel of the Second United States Cavalry. Col. Enoch Steen was married three times, and had children by his first and second wife, but none by his third. He was married first in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1824, to Mrs.

Mary Rector McPherson. Her maiden name was Mary Rector. To them were born three children. He was married a second time, in 1849, to Mrs. Mary Selkirk Walsh, whose maiden name was Mary Selkirk, by whom he had two children. His second wife died in 1862. He was married a third time, March 4, 1869, to Mrs. Amelia McGee Evans, who was born in Shelby County, Kentucky, June 17, 1813, and who died in 1898, in Kansas City, Missouri. The following are the names of the children by Col. Enoch Steen, so far as they were known to the writer:

I.—Constance Steen, the eldest child of Col. Enoch Steen and his first wife, was born about 1825. She was married to Commander Reed, of the United States Navy, who was killed in an action on the Mississippi River during the Civil War, and his wife died a few years later.

II.—Laura Steen, the second daughter of Col. Enoch Steen and his first wife, Mary Rector McPherson Steen, was born in 1826. She was married to Dr. Marison, a surgeon in the Southern Army. Afterward she was married to Colonel Tucker, of the United States Army. In 1893 she was living quietly at her home, on Olive Street, St. Louis, Missouri.

III.—Alexander Early Steen was the only son of Colonel Enoch Steen. At the beginning of the Civil War he was a Captain in the United States Army, stationed at Ringgold Barracks, Texas. He resigned his commission and gave his services and his life to the South. He was very soon placed in command of a brigade in the Confederate Army, and served with great bravery and distinction throughout the war, and was killed in one of the last battles at Prairie Grove, Arkansas. He was married to a planter's daughter in the South, and to them were born a son and a daughter.

IV.—Arabella Steen, called "Belle," a daughter of Col. Enoch Steen by his second wife, Mary Selkirk Walsh Steen, was born in 1854. She was married in 1872 to John Waterman, who died about 1885. Arabella Steen Waterman died in Kansas City, Missouri, in 1888, aged 34 years. She was the mother of one child.

BOOK EIGHT.

DESCENDANTS OF MOSES STEEN.

Moses Steen was born in Culmore, near Londonderry, Ireland, in 1718. He was married to a Miss Nelson, and brought up his family there. He died December 19, 1795, aged 77 years. His ancestors were originally refugees from persecution. They came from Scotland into Ireland as early as the reign of James I., probably about 1620, and settled on the banks of the Foyle.

Moses Steen was born at Culmore, Ireland, near Londonderry, in 1718, and died at the same place, December 19, 1795, aged 77 years. The old homestead at Culmore is a delightful place, overlooking Loch Foyle, and a fine prospect out to the sea. All the vessels that enter the harbor pass near by, and the view from beneath the shady trees is picturesque and interesting. The house stands upon a gentle slope above the water, and the ruins of the old church, where the family used to worship, is in full view. The cemetery near by marks the final resting-place of Moses Steen, his wife, several of their children, and many of their descendants. The ancestors of Moses Steen were originally refugees from Romish persecution in Holland. Leaving everything behind them except their religion, they first came into Scotland, where they remained for some time. They afterwards crossed over into Ireland as early as the reign of James I., probably about 1620, or perhaps a few years later. They settled at Culmore, on the banks of the Foyle, about four miles below Londonderry. In the course of time they were scattered abroad, and families of Steens sprang up in many different localities. They were a noble band of earnest Presbyterian Christians, who had been called to suffer for their religious principles, but determined to maintain their freedom of conscience and liberty of worship at all hazards. Moses Steen was married near Londonderry, about 1750, to a Miss Nelson, she having been born in 1721, and died August 12, 1784. They lived at Culmore, where they brought up a family of children. They often conversed with the men who defended Londonderry from the 18th of December until the close of the awful siege. Moses Steen used to tell his children and his grandchildren how that during the terrible siege of 1688 his own father and grandfather were driven under the walls of Derry by Rouen, the French General, in order that their privations and cries might compel the besieged to surrender. The cruel plan, however, failed. It enabled the weak and helpless in the city to get out, and the able-bodied to go in and carry on the defense, until William, the Prince of Orange, succeeded in breaking through the blockade, and by his conquering army and shiploads of provisions brought relief to the starving Protestants. To Moses Steen and his wife, formerly a Miss Nelson, were born three children, as follows: Thomas, Alexander, and Mary Steen.

There is also a William Steen so closely related to this family that the record of himself and his descendants is inserted as Chapter IV. of this Book.

On this occasion the Rev. John Hall, D.D., late of New York City, preached the installation sermon. Rev. George Steen still continues pastor of this church in Keady, which position he has now (1900) held for forty-six years. He was married, in 1864, to Janet Lysle

George Steen was ordained a Presbyterian clergyman, and installed pastor of a Presbyterian Church, near Limavady, Ireland, March 10, 1833, which he continued to serve for twelve years, until the organization of the Second Presbyterian Church in Limavady, when he was called to the pastorate of that church, and installed over it March 31, 1845. This relation he continued to hold until his death; a period of about 52 years and 6 months. His active ministry in the vicinity of Limavady was a faithful, able and devoted service of more than sixty-four years. In many respects he was a remarkable man—strong physically, mentally and religiously. The writer visited his home in 1896, and found him in the 90th year of his age, still actively engaged in preaching the Gospel regularly once each Sabbath, with a warm heart and a mind of clear and quick perception, deeply interested in all the religious, literary and civil affairs of the day. At that advanced age he was a good conversationalist, and as host acted with the energy, grace, and dignity of an alderman of fifty years. To the Rev. George and Margaret Thomson Steen were born the following five children:

CHAPTER IV.

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM STEEN.

This William Steen was not a descendant of Moses Steen, as would be supposed by the name appearing at this place. He was the only son of a William Steen who had a first cousin by the name of Thomas Steen that lived in Londonderry. It is probable that he was a descendant of a brother of the Moses Steen who married a Miss Nelson, and whose record we have not obtained. Thus the father of William Steen was a full cousin to Thomas Steen, the son of Moses Steen, whose father and grandfather were in the siege of Derry. At any rate, they were closely related families.

I.—William Steen, a son of William Steen, and possibly a grand-nephew of Moses Steen, was born at Culmore, County Donegal, near Londonderry, Ireland, in 1774. He was married in 1795, to Rebecca Wylie, she having been born in Linnore, Ireland, in 1774. After marriage they continued to live in Culmore, County Donegal, until 1822, when they removed with their whole family to America, and located on a farm on the Credit River (a stream which flows into Lake Ontario), situated in Toronto Township, in the County of Peel, Ontario, Canada, about four miles from the present village of Streetsville, and about twenty miles from the city of Toronto. Here in this new country they opened up a farm, and by industry and economy became prosperous. The whole family were sturdy Presbyterians, as their fathers were, having been brought up and educated in that faith for generations. They have exerted a great influence in molding the character of the people in that whole region, which influence a numerous posterity still perpetuates. A large proportion of the Steen family relationship living near Streetsville are prosperous farmers, and a healthy race. Nearly all of them are members of the Presbyterian Church, and worship together in the congregation of the Presbyterian Church in Streetsville, Ontario, and form a large portion of that congregation. It was the writer's great privilege to visit this locality, associate with these friends, and worship in this church, in the autumn of 1896. To William and Rebecca Weylie Steen were born eleven children, as follows:

1. Mary Steen, the eldest child, a daughter of William and Rebecca Weylie Steen, was born in Culmore, Ireland, about 1798. They resided in York County, Ontario. To John and Mary Steen Brown were born thirteen children. The last place they lived was at Cleveland, Ohio, U. S. A. Among their children were four whose names are unknown to the writer, but the names of the following nine of their children are given:

I.—Rebecca Brown.

II.—Nathaniel Brown.

He grew up to manhood on his father's farm, on the Credit River, in Toronto Township, County of Peel, four miles from Streetsville, Ontario. To them were born nine children, as follows:

He was an intelligent and industrious man—a carpenter and builder by occupation. He was married in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, July 25, 1865, to Susan Sceets. To them were born six children, as follows. The family residence is No. 220 Hanover Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

She was married at the old Steen homestead, on the Credit River, four miles from Streetsville, Ontario, in 1834, to John Leslie, he having been born in the Highlands of Scotland. They resided on a farm, near Streetsville, Ontario, and brought up a family of children. Mr. Leslie died a number of years ago, and Isabella Steen Leslie died at her home, January 13, 1897, aged about 84 years. Her funeral, in the Presbyterian Church, was largely attended from all parts of the county, and deep regret was felt that her death closed the doors of one of the oldest homes in Peel, which for more than half a century was gladly opened to all who cared to enter, but especially to friends. That home of which she was ever the presiding genius, was one of well-known hospitality throughout the sixty-two years of her life therein, for she left the same house as a corpse into which she entered as a bride, three score and two years before. Her most estimable sister, Mrs. Sarah Irwin, of Toronto, is now the only survivor of that large early pioneer family. The body of Mrs. Leslie was lovingly laid away to rest in the Streetsville cemetery. To John and Isabella Steen Leslie were born the following nine children, all born near Streetsville, Ontario:

They afterwards removed to the United States, locating first in Illinois, and finally settling on a fruit farm near Azusa, California. A delightful silver wedding anniversary at their home was held March 27, 1897, in honor of the twenty-five years of their happy married life. Among the interesting things on that occasion, Mrs. J. J. Morgan read "She Liked Him Rale Weel," and Mr. E. O. Gale, of Chicago, read the following original poem:

TO MR. AND MRS. ASA HALL ON THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

How these occasions conjure up those days we all remember,
 When Love's bright June ruled all the year, with roses hid December,
 When we first wooed these wives of ours and felt so much elated
 In looking forward to the time when to them we'd be mated.
 How bright to us appeared those days, no matter what the weather.
 Yet brighter far the evenings were in bringing us together;
 And oft in thought we walk those lanes with arms entwined
 serenely,
 And gaze again on that dear girl who walked with us so queenly.
 Those blissful hours do we recall, so filled with holy pleasure,
 We would not blot their memory out for any earthly treasure.

If love can give to hearts in youth so much of pure enjoyment,
 Can it be wise for married folks to find it no employment?
 If we conceived ecstatic bliss when we our troth had plighted,
 Should we not happier be to-day for all these years united?
 Our lives are shaped by little things, by chafings or caressings;
 Who keeps in age the love of youth, holds fast the highest blessings.

And when at length the hour came, so happy, yet momentous,
 We took her hand whose heart we claimed the Lord had kindly sent us,

We felt a knightly chivalry, to us e'en now appealing,
 As we to cherish, love, protect, with sacred vows were sealing.

We needed not those vows to bind, though friends had given weeping;

We felt the bride, through God, would find true bliss when in our keeping.

As we those idols of their homes with us away were taking,
 We saw we filled those homes with sighs, left hearts there almost breaking;

Yet we had such abiding faith in the roseate hues before us,
 We knew our love eclipsing theirs, for her who did adore us.
 'Tis true we could not sound that love, but sure it was abiding,
 And in our souls we pledged for life its strength to her confiding.

And knowing that our friends as guest have always welcomed
 Cupid,—

And who does not, as years roll by, grow more supremely stupid?—

We with our hearts congratulate to find them still pursuing
 Those little courtesies of life we all paid in our wooing;
 But apt in time to quite ignore, and much thereby is missing,
 For who would think of praising wives or startle them by kissing!

Yet being bolder now and then, should I catch "Asa and Tilly"
 Forgetting they had married been, were still remaining silly.
 Do you suppose I'd neighbors tell, as fun at Hall in making?
 Not much; lest it like measles prove, which are so awful taking.
 Keep on, my friends, in future years, as in these five-and-twenty,
 And may the Father, who is Love, crown you with love and plenty.

BOOK NINE.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN STEEN, OF BALLENEY.

John Steen was born in Ireland in 1759, and died in May, 1852, aged 93 years. His grandfather was one of the persecuted Scotch that came into Ireland. He was married in 1778 to Nancy Schoals, who was also born in 1759, and died December 17, 1847, aged 88 years. They brought up a family of six children, all born on the townland of Balleney, near Coleraine, Ireland.

John Steen, of Balleney, County Londonderry, was the grandson of one of the persecuted Scotchmen who came over into Ireland with three brothers at the same time. He was born in 1759, and died in May, 1852, aged 93 years, and his body was laid away to rest in Downhill cemetery, near Castlerock. He was married, in 1778, to Nancy Schoals, she having been born in 1759, and died December 17, 1847, aged 88 years. Her body rests by the side of her husband. John Steen came to Balleney from Largentca, about four miles southeast of Limavady, about the year 1784, and bought the townland of Balleney, nearly two hundred acres, upon which he continued to reside during the remainder of his life. He was a prosperous farmer. He lived to see the fifth generation from himself coming through his eldest son James, his grandson John, and his great-grandson James, whose little daughter he lived to see and dandle upon his knee. To John Steen, of Balleney, and his wife, Nancy Schoals Steen, the following six children were born: James, Thomas, Conolly, Philip, John, and Isaiah Steen.

CHAPTER I.

James Steen, the eldest son of John and Nancy Schoals Steen, was born on the townland of Balleney, near Coleraine, Ireland, in 1779 or 1780. He was married, about 1806, to Mary Kerr, by whom he had two children. He was married a second time to a Miss Clark, by whom he brought up a family of children. He was also married a third time to a lady whose name is not known to the writer of this record, by whom he brought up a family. The old family home of the Steens of the townland of Balleney is situated near the sea, in the northern portion of the County of Londonderry, nearly between Castlerock and Port Stewart. To James Steen and his first wife, Mary Kerr Steen, were born the following children:

I.—Nancy Steen, a daughter of James and Mary Kerr Steen, was born in Balleney, Ireland, in 1807.

II.—John Steen, a son of James and Mary Kerr Steen (a twin brother of the preceding), was born in Balleney, Ireland, in 1807, and died in May, 1833, aged 26 years. He was married, about 1828, to Mary Ann Smith, by whom he had three children, as follows:

1. James Steen, the eldest child and only son of John and Mary Ann Steen, was born about 1830. He was married, about 1850, to Jane Baxter, of Coleraine, by whom he had at least one daughter, whom its great-great-grandfather lived to see and dandle upon his knee.

I.— ——— Steen, a daughter of James and Jane Baxter Steen, removed with their family to America, where this James Steen died, leaving descendants in this country.

2. Mary Ann Steen, the second child and eldest daughter of John and Mary Ann Steen, and a sister of the James Steen who married Jane Baxter, was born about 1832. She removed to America with her brother and his family.

3. Isabella Steen, the third child and second daughter of John and Mary Ann Steen, was born about 1833. She removed to America with her brother James and his family, and her sister.

James Steen, the eldest son of John and Nancy Schoals Steen, of Balleney, brought up a family by his second wife, a Miss Clark, of which the writer has no record. By his third wife also he brought up a family of children, whose record the writer could not ascertain. Two of his grandchildren by his third wife were living a few years ago in Poway Valley, San Diego County, California. Miss Matilda Moore, then living with her brother, Alexander Moore, could probably give full information in regard to his family by his third marriage. This James Steen came to America with his family very early in the nineteenth century, and has left a very numerous posterity.

CHAPTER II.

Thomas Steen, the second son of John and Nancy Schoals Steen, was born on the old homestead, in the townland of Balleney, County Londonderry, Ireland, in 1782 or 1783. He was married probably about 1808 to "Ginney Boreland," by whom he had three children, as follows:

- I.—Nancy Ann Steen, the eldest daughter of Thomas and Ginney Boreland Steen, was born in Ireland about 1810. She removed with her brother and sister to the United States of America.
- II.—Samuel Steen, the second child and only son of Thomas and Ginney Boreland Steen, was born in Ireland about 1812. He removed to the United States of America and located in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he died, unmarried.

Dr. Robert Steen was a gentleman of very amiable qualities, a great favorite with his pupils who, for more than a quarter of a century, were educated in the institution. He was, if possible, held in still higher esteem by the vast number of young gentlemen who passed through the boarding school connected with his department, and thus had a closer acquaintance with him and better opportunities for knowing him in the private relationship of life. The following article is copied from "The Northern Whig," a Belfast newspaper, published the day after his death:

Death, ever busy in our midst, has removed yet another man who has played the part of wide usefulness in the community. The announcement in our columns of the passing away of Dr. Robert Steen will awake no mere perfunctory expressions of regret. So long and so closely connected with the Royal Academical Institution, apart from his extended social relations, he had come in contact with large numbers of those who afterwards came to occupy prominent positions in the learned professions and in the business world. Of these it is not too much to say that those who first knew him as a teacher came to value him as a friend, his friendship thus linking the associations of a pleasant school life with those of an after career. This was the inevitable result of the fine personal qualities of the man. Ever mindful of the educational interests of those intrusted to him, never careless in matters of discipline, those interests were all the better served, and discipline all the more readily maintained, through the kindness of heart, the cheery manners and unfailing geniality which were characteristic of him. It was a matter of sincere regret to all who had been under his care, and to his many friends, when failing health rendered it advisable that he should relinquish the position he had occupied so long, though they would have been well contented that he should for any other reason enter upon a period of merited leisure. The cordial attachment felt toward him was clearly shown at the time of his retirement, and will be more strongly marked in the sorrow manifested in his decease.

Dr. Robert Steen was married, June 30, 1858, to Annie Carmichael, a daughter of David Carmichael, a merchant of Belfast, she having been born October 11, 1834. To them were born eleven children. Family residence, 5 Dunelin, Malone Road, Belfast, Ireland.

Robert M. Steen was born in Londonderry, Ireland, November 16, 1810, and died at his home, near Sturges, Missouri, January 12, 1894, in the 84th year of his age. He was brought to America by his father when a small child. He went to sea when only about eight years of age, and spent his early life there. He was married in Indiana, in 1836, to Jane Culbertson, and removed to Missouri, where he brought up a family of nine children.

James Steen was born in Antrim, County Antrim, Ireland, in the Province of Ulster, in 1714, and there spent a long and useful life. He had a brother who lived in the same locality whose name was Alexander Steen, an influential citizen. See Book Fifteen.

James Steen was married to a Miss Hollinger, and brought up a family of several children. He was thrown from a buggy by a runaway horse, from the effects of which he died, in 1796, in the 82d year of his age. This branch of the Steen family came into Ireland with Oliver Cromwell, the Scotts, and Livingstons, non-Conformist Scotch ministers, who left Scotland in the days of persecution and settled first in Killinsky, in County Down, and afterwards located at Antrim, in the county of the same name. They were staunch Presbyterians, and descended from a Scotch Presbyterian minister, and continued to have representatives of the family in the ministry. To James Steen and his wife were born several children, one of whom was named Silas Steen, whose record is given below.

CHAPTER I.

Silas Steen, a son of James and — Hollinger Steen, was born in Antrim, in the County of Antrim, and Province of Ulster, Ireland, in 1757, where he continued to reside until his death, in 1827, aged about 70 years. He was married to Agnes Scott, about 1778, and brought up a family of five children.

On the vessel in which he crossed the ocean was a family by the name of Campbell, with whom he became intimately acquainted, and afterwards married a daughter of this family. Her name was Sarah Campbell, called "Sallie." After the death of his uncle he removed to Vicksburgh, Mississippi, and thence to Natchez, Mississippi, or vice versa. We have no record of his children.

BOOK FIFTEEN.

DESCENDANTS OF ALEXANDER STEEN.

Alexander Steen was born in Antrim, County Antrim, and Province of Ulster, Ireland, in 1716, and spent his life there. He was married to Jane Stewart, and brought up a family of seven children, whose descendants are now very widely scattered. He was killed by a gunshot on the day of the battle of Antrim as he sat under an arbor in his own private garden, in June, 1798, in the 82d year of his age.

Alexander Steen was born in the city of Antrim, County of Antrim, and Province of Ulster, Ireland, in 1716, where he spent a long and useful life. He had a brother, James Steen, who lived in the same locality, and left a numerous but now very widely scattered posterity. Both James and Alexander Steen were staunch Presbyterian Christians, and their children were all brought up in that faith. For the descendants of James Steen in part see Book Fourteen.

Alexander Steen was married to Jane Stewart, and brought up a family of seven children. He died from the effects of a gunshot wound, which he received as he was quietly sitting under an arbor in his own private garden, on the day of the battle of Antrim, in June, 1798, in company with his youngest son. He was eighty-two years old when he died. It was never known whether the shot that caused his death was intentional or merely accidental. Alexander Steen had nothing whatever to do with the political troubles of the times, but his friends felt it to be unsafe to investigate the matter, lest they should share a similar fate. Alexander Steen was an influential and useful citizen, and spent his whole life in Antrim, Ireland. To himself and wife were born the following seven children: William, Frances, John, Jane, James, ———, and Mary Steen.

CHAPTER I.

William Steen, the eldest child, a son of Alexander and Jane Stewart Steen, was born in the city and County of Antrim, Ireland, in 1762, and died in 1825, aged 64 years. He was married, first, to Mary Gill, by whom he had six children. He was married a second time to Martha Johnson, by whom he had three children, making nine in all. Hence he has left a numerous posterity, now widely scattered throughout Europe, Australia, and America.

I.—Mary Steen, the eldest child, a daughter of William and Mary Gill Steen, was born in the City and County of Antrim, Ireland, in 1784, and died in 1854, aged 70 years. She was married, about 1808, to James Magee, by whom she had the following nine children:

1. William Magee, the eldest child, a son of James and Mary Steen Magee, was born about 1809, and died in 1849, during the epidemic in Belfast, aged about 40 years.
2. James Magee, the second son of James and Mary Steen Magee, was born about 1811, and died in Antrim, Ireland, in 1881, aged about 70 years.
3. John Magee, the third son of James and Mary Steen Magee, was born in Antrim, Ireland, about 1813, and removed from the place in early life.

He was married in Antrim by the Rev. Mr. Montgomery, of that place, in June, 1816, to Margaret Steen (a daughter of Silas and Agnes Scott Steen, and a granddaughter of James and ——— Hollinger Steen), she having been born in Antrim, Ireland, February 23, 1788, and died December 9, 1863, aged 75 years, 9 months and 18 days. John Steen and Margaret Steen, his wife, were second cousins, both having descended by different lines from the same great-grandfather Steen, who was the son of a Scotch Presbyterian minister. They spent a long, happy and useful life in Antrim, where they were universally respected. John Steen was quite a noted singer in those days, having in early life received a thorough training in voice culture in England. He was the precentor of a large church in Antrim for more than forty years. He had many tempting offers to go and sing in other places, and in churches of different denominations, but nothing could entice him away.

Her funeral took place on Wednesday, December 13, and her body was tenderly laid away to rest until the resurrection morning. She was married in Antrim, Ireland, by the Rev. Mr. Early, of that place, August 24, 1843, to John Johnson. The same year of their marriage they removed to California, in the United States of America. For some time they resided in San Francisco, and afterwards located at 767 Alice Street, Oakland, California, where the family still resides. His father was probably the James Steen who lived in Ireland, and whose second wife was named McGeorge, so that there were two sets of children. BOOK SEVENTEEN.

The Coat of Arms of the Steens of Holland is—"A Shield of Gold, with an eight-pointed, red (vermilion) star, surmounted by a rose of the same color."

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES STEEN.

James Steen was born in Malpos, England, May 19, 1761, was married to Elizabeth Wood, in Chester, England, in December, 1785, removed to America in 1795, and located in Brattleboro, Vermont, where he resided with his family for twenty-three years. In 1818 he removed to Richland, New York, where he died in 1826.

James Steen was born in Malpos, Cheshire County, England, six miles from the city of Chester, May 19, 1761, and died in Richland, New York, February 19, 1826, in the 65th year of his age. He was a land owner in England, and a house builder by trade. Owing to the political troubles in 1793, high taxes, and the press gang going about the country enlisting men for the army and navy, peaceably if they could, but forcibly if they must, he sold his property in England for what he could get and removed to America in 1795. His great-grandfather removed from Holland into the North of England about the year 1700, where he spent the remainder of his life and brought up his family there.

James Steen was married in Chester, England, in December, 1785, to Miss Elizabeth Wood, she having been born in that city January 7, 1759, and died in Brattleboro, Vermont, in March.

1813, in the 55th year of her age. On leaving England, a Mr. Nelson, of London, heartily recommended him to Kish Booth, Esq., of Boston, Massachusetts, whom he found on the ship "Galen," on which they made their journey to America. Through this friend Mr. Steen obtained a letter of introduction to the Rev. William Wells, D.D., who had then recently been called as the only pastor in Brattleboro, Vermont, to which place he went with his wife and family in 1795. Here he continued to live for twenty-three years—a prosperous and useful citizen. His wife and all his children having died, except one son and his only daughter, he removed to Richland, New York, in 1818, which was then a forest. He took with him to his new home his only daughter, leaving his only living son upon the old homestead in Brattleboro, Vermont. At Richland he maintained himself and daughter by farming and working at his old-time trade as a house carpenter. After eight years' residence at Richland, New York, he died, February 19, 1826. His was the first grave ever made at Richland, and its location is shown by the following little chart:

The grave of James Steen lies at the front of the others, nearer to the pond, irregular as to line, and without a headstone to mark the spot. He was a noble Christian gentleman, who exerted in his day a wide influence for good. He was a Presbyterian in faith, industrious, studious, intelligent, and highly esteemed by all who knew him. To James and Elizabeth Wood Steen were born seven children, only two of whom lived to maturity.

I.—James Steen, the eldest son of James and Elizabeth Wood Steen, was born in Chester, England, in July, 1787, and died in September of the same year.

- II.—James Steen (2nd), the second son of James and Elizabeth Wood Steen, was born in Chester, England, in October, 1788, and died the same year.
- III.—William Steen, the third son of James and Elizabeth Wood Steen, was born in Chester, England, in 1791, and died in Brattleboro, Vermont, in 1797, when about six years old.
- IV.—James Steen (3rd), the fourth son of James and Elizabeth Wood Steen, was born in Chester, England, in 1794, and died in Brattleboro, Vermont, in 1800, when about six years old.
- V.—Joseph Steen, the fifth son of James and Elizabeth Wood Steen, was born in Brattleboro, Vermont, March 4, 1797, where he lived a long and useful life. He died in peace in the Christian faith, August 7, 1881, in the 85th year of his age, and his body was tenderly laid away to rest in the Brattleboro cemetery. The following extract from "The History of Brattleboro, Vermont," which was published two years before his death, is given to show the character of the man, and the estimation in which he was held by those who knew him best:

The familiar form of this gentleman and his present quiet operations in the book and stationery business, continued since 1830, give no idea to the present generation, aside from the business aforesaid, what he has been and done in the period of eighty-two years since his birth in this place. The generation now passing off the stage of life have ever considered him an important acquisition, a tower of strength to any cause his honest convictions led him to advocate. And it is fortunate for this community that his power and influence has always been in the right direction. He has been a strong man, physically and mentally, often exercising the attributes in times of adversity advantageously to the condition of others less fortunate than himself. From his aid and counsels the latter have received courage and inspiration to face the ills of life. During his mercantile operations he has published eleven thousand royal octavo Bibles of fifteen hundred pages each; eleven thousand encyclopedias of religious knowledge of fifteen hundred pages each; two thousand school Bibles; one thousand pocket Testaments, besides large numbers of school books. Printing was hard work then, done by hand power, often stimulated by alcohol in the form of whisky, black strap, rum or rye gin. For being a solitary exception in total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors, Mr. Steen was ridiculed by his fellow workmen; but he lived to see many of them fill drunkards' graves. In 1830 he was foremost in the Washingtonian movement. The self-reliant, independent character of the man is apparent from the foregoing, as also it was in every period of his life where decisive action was required. Mr. Steen obeyed the Scriptural command, "Prove all things, and hold fast that which is good." Over sixty years ago he joined the Congregational Church, and has been superintendent of the Sunday-school over twenty-five years, and is yet the oldest member of these institutions. In 1838 he tried Democracy under Van Buren's administration, and for a short time was editor and proprietor of the "Windham County Democrat," but in 1840 he again voted the Whig ticket, editing a Whig campaign paper, called "The Flail," which had a circulation of five thousand per week.

Mr. Steen was the agent here for paying pensions to the soldiers of the Revolution, continuing this duty till the last died. He was assignee in bankruptcy for Windham County in 1844, Justice of the Peace in 1848, and still held the office of Selectman in 1854-55. He was chosen school committee to put in operation the graded school system in 1841—a plan of his own designing. He was severely censured by a wealthy man for his action respecting schools, but neither wealth nor position could ever shut his mouth. He was always ready to sell books, but never his principles.

Joseph Steen was married, in 1821, to Eliza Miller, of Heath, Massachusetts, she having been born in 1800, and died in Brattleboro, Vermont, in October, 1881. To them were born five children.

CHAPTER I.

John Steen came from Scotland into Ireland, and located upon a farm on Fountain Hill, near Londonderry, where he built a house about 1750, in which he spent the remainder of his life. There were other Steens living in the same locality, who did not belong to that family. This John Steen was married, and had two children — one son and one daughter — whose names were William and Dinah.

I.—William Steen, the eldest child of John Steen, as above, was born at Fountain Hill, near Londonderry, Ireland, probably about 1773. He held the lands formerly occupied by his father, and carried on a large dyeing and linen weaving trade. He was married, probably about 1797, to Sarah Long, of Clandy, County Londonderry, Ireland. To them were born five children, as follows:

He lived under the reign of four British sovereigns, and died in Newry, Ireland, July 17, 1896, in the 96th year of his age. He was a minister of the gospel for a period of fifty-seven years, and at the time of his death he was the oldest minister in the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. Rev. James Steen was married to Sarah Doran, of County Down, Ireland. To them were born seven children, three daughters and four sons. Two daughters and one son died very young. William M. Steen was born in Dublin, Ireland, and removed to the United States of America about 1780. He was married to Elizabeth Breckinridge, called "Peggy," and located upon a farm in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. To them were born at least four children.

I.—William M. Steen, Jr., a son of William M. and Elizabeth Breckinridge Steen, was born in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, in 1790, and brought up on his father's farm. He was married in 1815 to Margaret Thompson, a daughter of Alexander and Elizabeth Thompson, who were born in Tipperary, Ireland, about 1765, emigrated to America, and located upon a farm in Crawford County, Pennsylvania, near where the city of Titusville now stands. Margaret Thompson was born near Pleasantville, Pennsylvania, July 19, 1795, and in 1896 was still living near that place, in the 102d year of her age. A letter from her son to the writer says:

"William M. Steen once owned a farm of three hundred acres in Butler County, Pennsylvania, which he traded for a tract of five hundred acres, which included the site where Pithole City was afterwards built. After the death of William M. Steen his wife traded that tract of land for a farm on Sugar Creek. This was before the great oil excitement in Pennsylvania, and the farm at Pithole afterwards brought an enormous sum of money, the celebrated V. S. oil well being located upon it, which alone produced about three thousand barrels a day."

He says again:

"William M. and Margaret Thompson Steen were the parents of eighteen children—nine boys and nine girls—all of them except four being still alive (1896). Eight of their sons enlisted in the army during the American Civil War, and each faithfully served his country for four years, during which time they became very widely scattered. They were all in the first battle of Bull Run, in 1861, but never met again during the war."

CHAPTER IX.

OTHER STEENS IN TEXAS.

Judge John A. Steen, of Paint Rock, Concho County, Texas, writes:

"I came into Texas in 1860, and have met several Steens and heard of several more. They figured considerably in the early history of Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas. The old ones are mostly dead, but their descendants are yet to be found. They are all of Scotch-Irish descent. I saw several Steens when in Bragg's army, east of the Mississippi, but do not know their place of residence. Major Steen, an old settler at Beeville, Bee County, Texas, a prominent and noted character, was, I think, from Louisiana. Judge Max Steen was killed in Old Mexico about 1891. He was a judge in one of the southern counties of Texas. There was a John Steen in Bosque County, Texas, years ago. Also, the family of C. C. Steen, known as the 'Kit Steen' family. He also had a brother Abe Steen, and a sister who married a Mr. Bennett, living somewhere in the Indian Territory, I think in the Choctaw Nation. The Steens in Bosque County, Texas, are the children of John Steen and George Steen, who came into the State from Southeast Missouri. I knew George Steen well during the war. John Steen was killed there. I have heard different reports concerning it, as that he was mobbed as a spy, and that he was killed by the Indians, but I never did know the truth of the matter. At any rate, I hear that he was a good man, and that his sons were good men. Richard C. Steen belongs, I think, to a different family than the Steen's Creek Steens, of which you wrote. That is, they are not closely connected, but still are of the same stock of the early Steens of that country. They lived near Steenston, Lowndes County, Mississippi, but over the line in Alabama."

Jefferson William Steen was born and brought up in Madison County, Mississippi, and died in Texas in March, 1885. He had two brothers, Thomas Steen and David Steen; both are dead, but their families are living either in Madison or in Hinds.

County, Mississippi. Jefferson William Steen was married and brought up a family of nine children—eight sons and one daughter, all still living in 1899. His eldest son is Charles Steen, whose post-office address is Cobb, Freestone County, Texas, and his seventh child is Richard C. Steen, of Mexia, Texas, who has resided there since 1884, selling goods for his brother-in-law, F. G. Robertson, the merchant.

Richard Steen, a part of whose family settled in Texas, was born in North Carolina, but lived, brought up his family, and died in Missouri. He was married to Juda McCarrell, and had a family of eight children, four sons and four daughters, as follows:

I.—James Steen.

II.—George Steen, who came into Texas in early life.

III.—John Brannon Steen, who came into Texas and was killed there.

IV.—William Steen, the only one of the children of Richard and Juda Steen, now living (1899). Residence, Marshfield, Missouri.

V.—Elvira Steen.

VI.—Margaret Steen.

VII.—Rebecca Steen.

VIII.—Maria Steen.

John Brannon Steen, the third child of Richard and Juda McCarrell Steen, as given in the above list, was born in Stoddard County, Missouri, October 17, 1837, and early removed into Texas. He was married, December 11, 1858, to Parmelia T. Roper, and brought up a family of children in Texas, three of whom are still living in 1900, as follows:

1. J. R. Steen, whose residence is near Towle P. O., Bosque County, Texas.
2. Josie Steen Craig, who resides at Sherman, Grayson County, Texas.
3. George J. Steen, who was born in Texas October 17, 1865, and was married November 13, 1884, to Nellie Wood, she having been born in Texas February 15, 1867. They reside on a farm near Towle P. O., Bosque County, Texas. To them were born the following children:

I.—Newton Steen was born December 22, 1885, and died November 14, 1886.

II.—Ada Steen was born June 2, 1887, and died November 10, 1889.

III.—Wessie Steen was born August 30, 1889.

IV.—Jennie Steen was born May 26, 1891.

V.—Bertie Steen was born July 14, 1893.

He also took to the sea, and after sailing the Spanish main for several years, went to California at the time of the gold excitement there. From thence he went to Oregon, and afterwards to New York City, from whence, in 1856, he sailed for Europe as chief officer of one of the largest vessels then afloat, and with the intention of visiting his aged mother. But one morning on the voyage, as he stood beside his commander, he was washed overboard by a heavy sea sweeping across the vessel.

BOOK TWENTY.

THE STEENS IN HOLLAND.

In the introduction to this work brief mention was made of Steens in Holland and their characteristics in the dark days of religious persecution. The following letter, from a prominent attorney in New York, will fully explain the Dutch coat of arms, including the Steen family in Holland:

NEW YORK, June 27, 1899.

"My Dear Mr. Steen:

"According to Rietstap, the authority on Dutch coats of arms, there are three families of Steen—

"First.—Holland: Shield of gold, with eight-pointed red (vermilion) star, surmounted by a rose of same color.

"Second.—Arnheim: Vermilion shield, with three triangular diamonds with gold edges. This has a crest—a gold jewel crown, ornamented with a triangular diamond; the scroll work (or lambrequins) of the crest, vermilion, silver and gold.

"Third.—Holstein: Blue with a silver shell (pilgrim's cockle shell). This has a crest, two projections, or rays, of blue, each one containing three silver cockle shells, one on the other.

"There are additional families of 'Van den Steen.' I thought this would interest you and your friend.

"Yours sincerely,

"GEORGE W. VAN SICLEN."

The explanations here given, together with names taken from city directories in Holland, were furnished by Aire H. Voorwinden, Esq., Vice Consul of the United States in Rotterdam.

The old Dutch word for "Castle" is Steen, and the ancient castle in Antwerp is still called "The Steen." The word "Van" means "of," and probably implies that the original bearers of the name "Van Steen" were men of stone, or strong men. The word "der" or "den" means "the," and indicates that the original bearers of the name "Van der Steen" or "Van den Steen" were in some way connected with a castle. The name "Steen" following any other surname, as, for instance, "Brand Van der Steen," would show that the "Brands" were ancient noblemen, and formerly owned a castle.
